PREFACE.

1134130

IT was a sad parting from the old home, when our forefathers cast loose from the English shore, and set sail for the land across the seas, to carve out their fortunes in the New World; in many, many instances never again to hear a word of intelligence from the dear ones left behind.

After a generation or two, is it any wonder that family histories and old traditions were forgotten? I use the word "carve" advisedly: when the "Martin boys," after walking two hundred and fifty miles from Woodbury, Ct., with gun and axe, and each carrying a pack, arrived in the dense hardwood forest, where the town of Peacham is now situated, their first business was to cut down a few of the smaller trees and make a "lean to," covered with brush, to protect themselves from the weather; a fire was built, and kept burning all night, to keep off the wild beasts; sometimes the fire was extinguished, and, while one slept, the other kept watch with the old flint lock, for possible prowling Indians.

Soon a "shanty" followed the "lean to," then all set to work, with a hearty good will, to make their first clearing. When supplies were needed, one of their number would follow the mountain brook to the river, and down its bank to the nearest settlement, twenty miles away. Thus they worked until the cold weather came, then they concealed their worldly belongings in the ground, and walked home to Woodbury, where they spent the winter.

In the early spring, they came back again, with all the supplies and seed they could carry. They planted potatoes and corn in due season, and enlarged their clearing. This performance was repeated, year after year, until the clearing was large enough to raise sufficient provisions to make them comparatively independent; after which the entire family came and made this their permanent residence.

In the busy pioneer life, few records were kept; old letters and papers were relegated to the attic, and abandoned to the mice.

A generation or two ago, young people who showed too great an interest in their ancestors were apt to be snubbed. The present generation, I am glad to see, is taking a deeper interest in genealogy.

For many years, we have been collecting data relating to the forbears of my wife (a Peacham Martin) and to my own ancestors. As there is but one living of my father and mother's generation, and only a few, scattered here and there, of the contemporaries of my wife's parents, it seems we started none too soon to collect and preserve for our children a brief history of their progenitors.

It was my original intention to follow the line of Capt. Ashbel Martin, of Peacham, Vt., only; but, in my researches, I have discovered descendants of his brothers, sisters and uncles; and it affords me pleasure to include them in this history.

Several years ago, I obtained a fund of information from Capt. (Uncle Leonard) Martin, of Dixville, then in his 96th year, hale and hearty; unfortunately, however, he possessed very few dates.

I am indebted for much information and data to Miss Abbie Mellen Chamberlain, of Cambridge, Mass.; to Miss Jane E. Cowles (a Vermont Martin), of Plymouth, Mass.; and to Mr. Frederick Arthur Chase, of Lowell, Mass. Besides personal information obtained from heads of families, records from family bibles, letters brought to light from the "old hair trunk" in the garret, and inscriptions from various tombstones, authorities for this work are in part from the public records of Loudon, N. H.; Chelsea, Hopkinton, Hadley, Northampton and Northfield, Mass.; Woodbury, Wethersfield, Stratford, Lebanon, Fairfield, Hartford, New Haven and Watertown, Ct.; and Peacham, Vt.; Journals of the New Hampshire and Vermont Houses of Representatives; New Hampshire and Connecticut State papers; and Journals of Massachusetts Historical Society; "Connecticut Men of the Revolution;" New Hampshire and Connecticut's Revolutionary War Rolls; the Bureau of Pensions, Washington, D. C.; History of Caledonia County, Vt.; Historians Booth, Rix, Savage, Cothren, Bliss, etc.

The reader will find much that is incomplete, and, there are, undoubtedly, some mistakes. I have used my best judgment in making selections in cases where authorities disagree.

THOMAS ARTHUR HAY.

SERGT. FRANCIS NICHOLS (page 11), had a son CALEB NICHOLS, who had a daughter ABIGAIL NICHOLS (Genealogical No. 28, page 13), who married William (Seaborn) Martin.

MARTIN.

EARLIEST RECORD OF THE SURNAME.

SAINT MARTIN, Bishop of Tours, was born in Pannonia, about the year A. D. 316. He was educated at Pavia; entered the army; first, under Constantine, and afterwards under Julian, the Apostate. On obtaining his discharge, he became a disciple of Hilary, Bishop of Poitiers. He then returned to his native Pannonia, and converted his mother to Christianity; enduring, as a consequence, much persecution from the Arian party, at that time dominant.

In 360, he founded a convent. In 371, he was ordained Bishop of Tours. He died in Touraine about the year 400. The festival of his birth is celebrated on the 11th of November; and, in Scotland, this day still marks the winter term, called Martinmas (the Mass of St. Martin).

Battle Abbey was dedicated to St. Martin. The name of Le Sire de L. Martin appears on the Roll of Battle Abbey, dated 1066.

Le Sire Martin de Turon, a man of much wealth, assisted William Duke of Normandy in the conquest of England, from whom he obtained "Comb Martin" and other possessions. Some of his issue, called Fitz Martin, flourished to the height of a Barony, and had in time that title from Barnstaple, Darlington, etc., in Wales.

The ancient "Arms" of the family carry a Mural Crown in the Crest, denoting Roman antiquity.

ARMS: Argent, two bars, gules.

CREST: Out of a Mural Crown vert, a talbot's head, eared and langued gules Collared of the first.

MOTTO: Sure and Steadfast.

The Martins of Plymouth county, Devonshire, England, were originally from Kent.

Captain John Martin of Plymouth (undoubtedly an officer of Queen Elizabeth), son of Martin of Martin of Bridgetown, near Tolness, sailed around the globe with Sir Francis Drake, leaving Plymouth Nov. 15th, 1577, and returning to the same port Sept. 26th, 1579.

Capt. John Martin, married a sister of Sir Julius Caesar, K. T., who married a daughter of Sir Richard Martin, Lord Mayor of London.

The arms of the Martin family from Plymouth, Devonshire, originally from Kent; were:

ARMS: Gules, on a chevron or, three talbots passant sable.

CREST: On a globe or, a falcon rising, argent, gorged, with a ducal coronet.

MOTTO: Sure and Steadfast.

In the days of chivalry, Coats of Arms were used to designate pedigree and rank. On the decline of Feudalism, about 1688, and the rise of the Reformation, their significance and value in a measure disappeared. Our stern Pilgrim forefathers denounced in strongest measure any reference to, or recollection of, what they regarded as relics of former family vanity. So their children and early descendants grew up in ignorance of the Heraldic standing of their ancestry in the mother country.

There was a William Martin, of London, England, who assisted the Pilgrims in preparing for the first voyage of the Mayflower to this country, but it does not appear that he himself emigrated.

Christopher Martin, his wife and son, Christopher, came over in the Mayflower in 1620, but they all died within a year after landing.

Others, of the name of Martin, followed in each succeeding company for several years, and settled in various parts of the country; among whom was Lieut. Samuel Martin, some of whose descendants we here purpose to enumerate.

1. Lieut. Samuel Martin, 1st generation, of New Haven and Wethersfield, Ct., was born in Devonshire, England, and emigrated from Plymouth to America about 1640 to 1645. He married Phebe Bracey, and that their son, William, was born on ship board when they came to this country, and was called William Seaborn Martin, is a tradition held persistently by their descendants generally.

The recorded facts disprove this tradition, as Phebe Bracey lived in New Haven (a widow) several years prior to her marriage to Samuel Martin.

However, the records state that in 1652, Samuel Martin, six years after he married Phebe Bracey, "went to London, England, and returned soon." Presumably, he had gone to visit his wife's father, William Bisby, a wealthy merchant of London. It is hardly supposable that he made the journey without his wife.

The records show that Samuel Martin was of too generous a nature to accumulate worldly goods to any great extent, and we would be justified in assuming that his father-in-law supplied the means for the visit, and that he wished to see his daughter.

If we can believe that their son, William, was born on the return voyage, in 1653, and called William Seaborn, then the tradition and the recorded facts harmonize. This theory is supported by the fact that no record can be found in New Haven or Wethersfield of the exact date of his birth.

Phebe (Bisby) Brace or Bracey, widow of one Bracey, by whom she had five children in England (some of whom came to this country), was the oldest child and daughter of William Bisby, a gentleman of London, who contributed considerable sums of money for assisting emigration to America. "She came to this country in 1642; was at New Haven in 1644."

"In 1646, Samuel Martin went from Wethersfield to New Haven, and married widow Phebe Bracey."

"In 1647, Samuel and Phebe Bracey (brother and sister Martin) held sittings in the church at New Haven." They removed to Wethersfield in 1647, at which time her father,

William Bisby, purchased a house and lot, "in trust for his daughter, Phebe and his son-in-law, Samuel and heirs;" where she lived, and probably died.

"In 1648, they contributed to the expense of seating the meeting house in Wethersfield."

"Samuel Martin went to London, England, in 1652, and returned soon."

"In 1660, he was delegated to go to 'the Bay' and fetch the Rev'd Mr. Cotton to Wethersfield, to become pastor of Wethersfield Church."

"On Jan. 17th, 1675, he was made a Corporal of dragoons, and served in King Philip's War."

"On Dec. 19th, 1675, at the great fort-fight at Kingston, R. I., he earned his Lieutenancy and a bounty of 200 acres of land."

"In 1677, he was granted 50 acres of land for himself and his heirs forever, prohibit."

He was a man of great executive ability, and was foremost in public affairs in the early settlement of New Haven and Wethersfield. Prior to earning his military titles, he was called "Mr." Samuel Martin, a mark of distinction granted only to men of unusual prominence.

He died in 1683. They had three sons:

2. I. Samuel Martin, Jr., 2d generation, born 1648, was a freeman of Woodbury, Ct., in 1669, of whom later.

3. II. David Martin, 2d gen., born 1650, of whom later.

4. III. William (Seaborn) Martin, 2d gen., born cir., 1653, and married, June 25th, 1685, Abigail Nichols, a descendant of two prominent Colonial families.

We will digress sufficiently to enable us to trace her descent from Sergeant Francis Nichols, founder of Stratford, and from Hon. Andrew Ward, founder of Wethersfield.

NICHOLS.

It is stated, that at the time of Edward the Confessor, one, Nicholas de Albini, alias Nichol, came over from Normandy, and was the common ancestor of the Nichol family.

5. Sergeant Francis Nichols, an original proprietor of Stratford, Ct., was born in England, in 1590.

He married first, in England, where his three sons and one daughter were born. His wife died in England.

He married second, Anna, daughter of Deacon Barnabus Wynes, of Wales; who, with him, came to America, in 1635 or 1636, possibly earlier.

She survived him, and married second, in 1653, John Elton, a wealthy farmer of Southold, L. I. He died in Southold, and she married third, in 1686, John Tooker, a prominent citizen of Brookhaven, L. I.

In the Spring of 1639, Sergt. Nichols, with sixteen other families, settled on 76,000 acres of land at Cupheag; which was in April, 1643, by General Court order, named Stratford.

He was appointed in October, 1639, by General Court, to train the men and exercise them in military discipline; therefore, he was the first military officer on the plantation.

He is recorded as one of the freeholders and inhabitants of Southold, L. I., in 1647; which was under the jurisdiction of Connecticut, and was known as Yorkshire. He died at Stratford, Ct., in 1650.

Children by first marriage (four):

6. I. Isaac Nichols, born in England, in 1625, of whom later.
7. II. Caleb Nichols, born in England, of whom later.
8. III. John Nichols, born in England, of whom later.
9. IV. Daughter, married Richard Mills.

He married a second time, and had a daughter, who married Christopher Youngs, Jr.

6. Isaac Nichols, eldest son of Sergt. Francis Nichols, born in England, in 1625; came with his father's family to America, in 1635 or 1636.

He was one of the first settlers of Stratford, in 1639, and was planter and merchant. Appointed deputy to General Court, 1662-1664. He married Margaret ———, in 1646. He died in 1695. His will was proven, Nov. 6th, 1695.

Children (eleven):

10. I. Mary Nichols, born Feb. 2d, 1648; married, Jan. 8th, 1667, Rev. Israel Chauncy, pastor of the first church of Stratford from 1666 to 1703. He was one of the founders of Yale College, and was elected its first president; was the son of Rev. Charles Chauncy, D. D., second president of Havard College.
11. II. Sarah Nichols, born Nov. 1st, 1649; married, Jan. 28th, 1673, Lieut. Stephen Burritt, ancestor of the learned Elihu Burritt.
12. III. Josiah Nichols, born Jan. 29th, 1652; married Hannah, daughter of Joseph Hawley.
13. IV. Isaac Nichols, 2d, born March 12th, 1654; married Mary ———.
14. V. Jonathan Nichols, born Dec. 20th, 1655; married, Dec. 21st, 1681, Hannah Hawkins.
15. VI. Ephriam Nichols, born Dec. 16th, 1657; married, Oct. 17th, 1682, Esther, widow of Ebenezer Hawley.
16. VII. Patience Nichols, born Feb. 2d, 1660.
17. VIII. Temperance Nichols, born May 17th, 1662.
18. IX. Margery Nichols, born Nov. 30th, 1663.
19. X. Benjamin Nichols, born Feb. 2d, 1665; married first, Abigail ———; married second, Rebecca, widow of John Seeley.
20. XI. Eliza Nichols, born April 2d, 1668; married, July 9th, 1691, Rev. Joseph Webb, pastor of the first church of Fairfield, Ct.

7. CALEB NICHOLS, second son of Sergt. Francis Nichols, came from England with his father and brothers.

He married, cir. 1649, Anne Ward, daughter of Andrew Ward, of Fairfield, Ct. She was born in 1620.

He was one of the early settlers of Stratford, Ct., and was one of the freemen of that town in 1669. Having previously taken up land divisions, he removed in 1684 or 1685, to Woodbury, where he died April 14th, 1690.

His wife died July 23d, 1718, at the age of ninety-eight years.

Children of Caleb Nichols and Anne Ward (thirteen):

21. I. Sarah Nichols, born Dec. 1st, 1651; married Moses Wheeler, Jr.
22. II. Ann Nichols, born March 5th, 1653.
23. III. Esther Nichols, born July 17th, 1655; married John Prentice.
24. IV. Joseph Nichols, born Dec. 25th, 1656.
25. V. Samuel Nichols, born March 29th, 1658; married widow Susanna Fairchild.
26. VI. Andrew Nichols, born Nov. 28th, 1659.
27. VII. Abraham Nichols, born Jan. 19th, 1662; married Rachel Kellog, of Norwalk.
28. VIII. Abigail Nichols, born Feb. 6th, 1664, of whom later.
29. IX. Hannah Nichols, born August, 1667.
30. X. Caleb Nichols, Jr., born February, 1669; died unmarried, leaving his property to his brothers, Abraham and John and his sister Abigail Martin, widow of William Martin.
31. XI. Phebe Nichols, born Nov. 12th, 1671; married Isaac Knell, Jr.
32. XII. John Nichols, born Nov. 12th, 1676; married Jane Bostwick.
33. XIII. Mary Nichols, married Joseph Hull, of Derby,

28. ABIGAIL NICHOLS, eighth child of Caleb Nichols and Anne Ward, was born Feb. 6th, 1664; married, June 25th, 1685, William (Seaborn) Martin (No. 4, page 10).

WARD.

34. Hon. ANDREW WARD, Fairfield, Conn., proprietor of Wethersfield, was a son of Richard Ward, of Suffolk, England. He married Esther Sherman, who came to this country with him prior to 1633, at which date he was admitted a freeman of Boston. He is recorded as a freeman of Watertown, May 14th, 1634.

In 1635, he and one other, were the first settlers of Wethersfield.

The first court of the colony, established March, 1635, consisting of Andrew Ward and seven others, was commissioned by the General Court of Massachusetts "to make and execute laws, and to govern the people of Connecticut for one year."

The General Court of Connecticut, at its first session, held at Newtowne or Hartford, April 26th, 1636, ratified a dismissal of Andrew Ward and others from the Watertown church, authorizing them "to form anew in a church covenant," in Connecticut.

They established the first church in Wethersfield.

In 1638, he was appointed, with Capt. John Mason and Mr. Allen, to go to Agawam (or Springfield), "to treat with the Indians at Waranoeke, concerning the charges of the Pequot war, to the value of one fathom of wampum a man, etc." He removed to New Haven in June, 1639; was constable of Stamford, March 26th, 1643.

He was one of a company, who made a purchase of Hempstead, L. I. Difficulties with the Dutch arising, he removed to Fairfield, becoming one of its most influential citizens, where he died in 1665. His wife, Esther, died the same year. His will, dated June 3d, 1659, and probated at Fairfield, bequeathed his wife, Esther, £40. He was an ancestor of Henry Ward Beecher.

Children of Hon. Andrew Ward and Esther Sherman (nine):

35. I. Edmund Ward, no record.

39. II. William Ward; married Sarah, daughter of William Kills, an original proprietor of Hartford.

37. III. Mary Ward, married John Burr, who was the ancestor of Aaron Burr.
38. IV. Andrew Ward, born in 1647.
39. V. Samuel Ward, no record.
40. VI. Abigail Ward, no record.
41. VII. Anne Ward, born 1620, of whom later.
42. VIII. John Ward, colonist from Wethersfield, with others, purchased land from the Indians, and formed the Toket plantation, afterwards called Branford,
43. IX. Sarah Ward, married Nathaniel Burr.

41. ANNE WARD, seventh child of Andrew and Esther Ward, was born in 1620, and married Caleb Nichols (No. 7, page 13), of Stratford, by whom she had twelve children; the eighth child being:

28. ABIGAIL NICHOLS (page 13), who was born Feb. 6th, 1664, and married WILLIAM (SEABORN) MARTIN (No. 4, page 10).

We will now resume the Martin line.

---

4. WILLIAM (SEABORN) MARTIN, 2d gen. (page 10), of Wethersfield and Woodbury, Conn., third son of Lieut. Samuel Martin, and Phebe Bracey, was born cir. 1653.

In 1670, he furnished many settlers for Stratford plantation, which accounts for his appearance at that place. He was one of forty, who were assigned house lots and division lands at Wethersfield, previous to King Philip's war, and prior to 1682.

He married, June 25th, 1685, Abigail Nichols (No. 28), daughter of Caleb Nichols, and Anne Ward. She was born at Stratford, Ct., Feb. 6th, 1664. He removed to Woodbury, and with his wife, Abigail, was admitted to the first church in Woodbury, on their arrival there, Aug. 30th, 1685.

He is on the Woodbury list of 1702, and his rate on April, 1712, was £0 : 2*s* : 2*d.*

He died at Woodbury, July 4th, 1715, at the age of sixty-two years, and was burried near the centre of the old burying ground at that place, and stones were set at the head and foot of his grave. In 1854, both of these stones were lying on the ground near the grave.

She survived him 20 years. Her brother, Caleb Nichols, Jr. (No. 30, page 13), dying unmarried, left his property, in part, to his sister Abigail "Widow Martin." She died at Woodbury, Jan. 4th, 1735, at the age of seventy-one years.

Children of William (Seaborn) Martin and Abigail Nichols (four):

44. I. Joseph Martin, 3d generation, born at Woodbury, baptised November, 1691, of whom later.

45. II. Samuel Martin, 3d gen., born at Woodbury, bap. March, 1693, of whom later.

46. III. Caleb Martin, 3d gen., born at Woodbury, March 26th, 1698, of whom later.

47. IV. Phebe Martin, 3d gen., bap. January, 1704; married Daniel Curtis, June 3d, 1730, of whom later.

45. SAMUEL MARTIN, 1st, 3d generation, second son of William (Seaborn) Martin and Abigail Nichols, married Annis Hinman; following is the family from which she came.

HINMAN.

48. SERGEANT EDWARD HINMAN, before his emigration from England to this country, belonged to the body or life guard of Charles the First.

He, with Francis Stiles, became the chief purchaser of the south part of Woodbury, Ct., now Southbury: he remained at Stratford, where he died in 1681.

He had several children, his third son being:

49. BENJAMIN HINMAN, born 1622; married at Woodbury, Ct., July, 12th, 1684, Elizabeth Lamb. They lived at Bullet Hill, on the main street, at Southbury.

He died in 1727.

Children (thirteen):

50. I. Annis Hinman, baptised 1685; died young.
51. II. Hannah Hinman, bap. October, 1686, married Benjamin Hurd, Jr.
52. III. Adam Hinman, bap. January, 1687.
53. IV. Noah Hinman, bap. July, 1689.
54. V. Benjamin Hinman, bap. April 1st, 1692.
55. VI. Elizabeth Hinman, born February, 1693; married John Hurd.
56. VII. Eunice Hinman, born May, 1696; married Nathan Hurd.
57. VIII. Annis Hinman, born September, 1697; married Samuel Martin, 1st.
58. IX. Rachel Hinman, born December, 1700; married Ephriam Baldwin.
59. X. Edward Hinman, born October, 1702.
60. XI. Samuel Hinman, born December, 1704.
61. XII. Wait Hinman, born October, 1706.
62. XIII. Mercy Hinman, born December, 1709.

45. SAMUEL MARTIN, 1st, 3d generation, was the second son of William (Seaborn) Martin and Abigail Nichols; born at Woodbury, and baptised March, 1693 or 1695; married at Southburg, Jan. 15th, 1766, Annis Hinman (No. 57), daughter of Benjamin Hinman and Elizabeth Lamb. She was born September, 1697, and died March 12th, 1750, according to the records; but inscription on the tombstone gives March 13th, 1749.

Children (seventeen):

63. I. Mary Martin, 4th generation, born April 11th, 1717; married Ephriam Miner, Jr.
64. II. Eunice Martin, 4th gen., born April 15th, 1718; died in 1788.
65. III. William Martin, 4th gen. born April 27th, 1719, of whom later.

66. IV. Samuel Martin, 2d, 4th gen., born Feb. 10th, 1722, of whom later.
67. V. Daniel Martin, 4th gen., baptised June 9th, 1723; died young.
68. VI. Prudence Martin, 4th gen., bap. Oct. 9th, 1724; married Daniel Miner, Feb. 6th, 1746.
69. VII. Mercy Martin, 4th gen., bap. Nov. 13th, 1726; married Amos Root, Sept. 16th, 1747.
70. VIII. David Martin, 4th gen., bap. May 26th, 1728.
71. IX. Jonas Martin, 4th gen., bap. Oct. 25th, 1729, of whom later.
72. X. Elisha Martin, 4th gen., bap. Sept. 28th, 1732, of whom later.
73. XI. Nathan Martin, 4th gen., born July 30th, 1734, of whom later.
74. XII. Annis Martin,
75. XIII. Patience Martin,
76. XIV. Concurrence Martin } 4th gen. born Mch 18th, 1736; bap. March 21st, 1736.
77. XV. Timothy Martin, 4th gen., bap. March 4, 1739.
78. XVI. Daniel Martin, 4th gen., born April 23d, 1741.
79. XVII. Deliverance Martin, 4th gen., born 1744.

46. Caleb Martin, 3d generation (page 16), third child of William (Seaborn) Martin and Abigail Nichols, born at Woodbury, March 26th, 1698; married, June 26th, 1729, Elizabeth Walker.

"Caleb and Elizabeth Martin joined the church, Feb. 2d, 1735."

She died at Woodbury, Aug. 27th, 1741. He died, Nov. 27th, 1776.

Children (six):

80. I. Solomon Martin, 4th generation, born April 17th, 1731, of whom later.

She died in 1744.

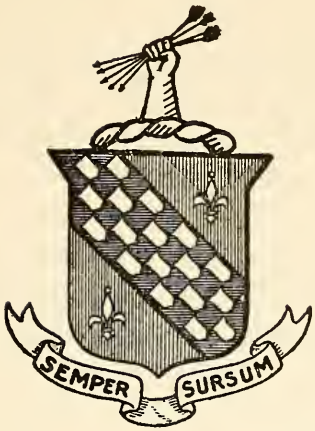
Children (one):

94. I. Elijah Martin, 5th generation, baptised April 15th, 1744; of whom later.

He married second, in 1746, Sarah Webster, who is descended from three prominent pioneer families.

We will again digress in order to trace her descent from Thomas Bliss and John Marsh, founders of Hartford, and from Hon. John Webster, Colonial Governor of Connecticut.

BLISS.



COAT OF ARMS.

ARMS. Gules, a bend vaire, between two fleurs-de-lis, or.

CREST. Hand clasping darts, or. with a ducal coronet.

MOTTO. Semper Sursum, (ever upward).

Vaire is represented by small shield-shaped figures, from the fur of the beast called varus, expressed in azure and argent.

The Bliss family lived in the village of Belstone, near Okehampton, in the south of England, and belonged to that staunch class known as English Yeomanry; though, at various times, different members of the family had married into the next higher order, that of the Knighthood.

They owned the houses and lands they occupied, were freeholders, and entitled to vote for members of Parliament from the borough in which they resided. From time immemorial, they had inclined to Puritanism. On the occasion of Oliver Cromwell being sent to Parliament for the first time, two of the Bliss brothers, Jonathan and Thomas, sons of Thomas Bliss, 1st, rode to London, accompanying their representative to the House of Commons; they were marked by the spies of Charles I, arrested, fined £1000 for nonconformity, and thrown into prison; their old father was dragged through the streets with greatest indignity.

At another time, the three brothers were led through the market-place, at Okehampton, with ropes around their necks, and fined heavily.

Jonathan, the eldest brother, languished in prison, and died from the effects of a fever contracted there.

They began to realize England was no longer a home for them, and turned their eyes toward the far and dreary wilderness of America.

95. THOMAS BLISS, 1st, Puritan, of Belstone parish, county of Devonshire, England, a wealthy farmer, who suffered persecution under direction of Archbishop Laud, was born about 1550 to 1560, and died in England, 1635 or 1636.

Children (five).

96. I. Jonathan Bliss, born in England, imprisoned by Charles I, for nonconformity and died from the effects of his imprisonment, 1635 or 1636.

97. II. Thomas Bliss, 2d, born in England, 1580 to 1585, of whom later.

98. III. Elizabeth (Betty) Bliss, married Sir John Caldiffe, of Belstone, and was in later years of much assistance to her brothers, who had emigrated to America.

99. IV. George Bliss, born in England, 1590; came to this country in 1635 with his brother Thomas, and died Aug. 31st, 1667.

100. V. Mary (or Polly) Bliss, resided in England.

97. THOMAS BLISS, 2d, Hartford, was second son of Thomas Bliss, 1st, born at Belstone, England, 1580 to 1585; married in England, 1612 to 1615, Margaret (surname supposed to be Lawrence).

Persecuted for his religious beliefs, he resolved to emigrate to America, and with his brother George and their families landed in Boston in the Autumn of 1635, and settled on the south side of Boston Bay.

In the following year, or thereabouts, they removed to Hartford, Ct. Whether or not the Blisses accompanied the party headed by Rev. Thomas Hooker, consisting of Gov. John Webster, Mr. Samuel Stone and others, is not certain; they were, however, among the original land proprietors of that place. In the settlement of Hartford, the land was laid out in "lots" and "tiers" and apportioned to the settlers; "lot No. 58 was assigned to Thomas Bliss, Sr., and lot No. 59 to Thomas Bliss, Jr., both on 'tier' 10, south side of the little river."

The present Trinity street, was one of the original streets of Hartford, and was known as Bliss street, from the first settlement until 1855.

Thomas Bliss, 2d, died at Hartford, in 1640. His widow, Margaret, managed the affairs of the family with great prudence and judgment.

About the year 1646, part of their estate in Hartford was sold by Widow Bliss and her son, Thomas Bliss, 3d.

Their third child was Sarah Webster (No. 137, page 26), who became the second wife of Capt. Abijah Martin (No. 87, page 20).

WEBSTER.

155. Hon. John Webster, founder of Hartford, Ct., and Wethersfield, Mass. (Governor), was born in Warwick county, England.

In 1635, he came to Cambridge, Mass., with his wife, Agnes, and their five children, Robert, Mathew, Anne, Elizabeth and Mary.

During the same year, with Rev. Thomas Hooker, Mr. Stone and others, he organized a company for the purpose of founding a colony on the banks of the Connecticut river. In June, 1636, this company, of over one hundred men, women and children, started out for their goal. Their route lay, for more than 100 miles, through a hideous and trackless wilderness, over mountains, through swamps, across rivers; some of which they forded, crossing others on rudely constructed rafts; carrying their worldly possessions in packs, including arms, ammunition and household utensils; driving before them their flocks and herds, consisting of 160 head of cattle; subsisting on game and fish and the milk of their cows.

Mrs. Hooker, who was an invalid, was carried on a covered litter, much resembling an elongated Sedan Chair, and borne by two horses in tandem. In about two weeks, they reached their destination, which is the site of the present city of Hartford.

John Webster, was one of the committee, who for the first time sat with the Court of Magistrates in 1637.

In 1642, he was one of a committee to frame criminal laws for the Colony.

For twenty years, he was annually chosen into the Magistracy of Connecticut.

He was elected on the commission, for the United colonies, in 1654. At the election, in Hartford, May 17th, 1655, he was chosen Deputy Governor. In 1656, was elected Governor, being the fifth Colonial Governor of Connecticut. The rule being that no Governor could succeed himself. In 1657, he was chosen Chief Magistrate.

In 1659, he with his three sons, Robert, William and Thomas, were associated in the purchase of land, for and in the settlement of Hadley, Mass., which was a direct outgrowth from Hartford and Wethersfield.

He died in Hadley, April 5th, 1661, leaving quite a handsome estate. His name, with those of John Marsh, Timothy Stanley and others, is inscribed on the public Monument to the earliest settlers in Hartford.

Agnes, his wife, survived him, and died in Hartford.

They had four sons and three daughters. Authorities differ widely as to the order of their birth, and also as to which were born in England, but the weight of evidence appears to be in favor of the following order:

Children (seven):

156. I. Robert Webster, born in England, of whom later.

157. II. Mathew Webster, born in England; resident of Hartford, and, later, householder of Farmington, Ct.; died July 16th, 1675, leaving one son, John.

162. VII. Thomas Webster, born at Hartford, 1638, of whom later.

156. Lieut. Robert Webster, Middletown, eldest child of Hon. John and Agnes Webster, was born in England. He, with his father, settled in Hartford and Hadley, and later in Middletown. He married in 1652, Suzana Treat. He was made a Lieutenant, in 1654; was in King Philip's War in 1675; was Town Clerk and Representative in 1657. He died at Hartford, in 1676.

Children (several), of whom the eldest was:

163. I. John Webster, who was great grandfather of Dr. Noah Webster, the renowned lexicographer.

162. Thomas Webster, founder of Hadley, youngest child of Hon. John and Agnes Webster, was born at Hartford, in 1638. In 1659, he joined, with his father and brothers, Robert and William, in the settlement of Hadley.

In 1661, he and his brother William, fell heirs to his father's lands in Hadley.

He married, June 16th, 1663, Abigail Alexander, daughter of George Alexander, of Northampton.

About the year 1674, he settled in New Hampshire. In 1675, the Indians broke up the settlement. From 1676 to 1682, they resided in Hadley, but settled ultimately in Northfield, Mass., where he died in 1686. She died prior to March, 1690.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH I.

Captain Abijah Martin, of Woodbury, Conn., fourth generation (No. 87, pages 19, 32), first son of Joseph Martin and Sarah Harris, was born at Woodbury, Conn.; baptized on October 16, 1720.

He married first, Mary Terrill, daughter of Roger Terrill, of Woodbury; they had one son, Elijah.

She died at Woodbury in 1744.

He married second, in 1748, Sarah Webster (No. 137, page 26), daughter of Samuel Webster and Anne Marsh.

She was born at New Lebanon, Conn., in 1729 or 1730. She is a descendant of Thomas Bliss, Puritan, of Belstone, Devonshire, England; of Hon. John Webster, fifth Colonial Governor of Connecticut, and of John Marsh, one of the founders of Hartford, Conn.

They had six sons and three daughters: Abijah, Sarah, Andrew, Jerusha, Ashbel, David, Samuel, Marsh and Mary Ann; all born at Woodbury.

In about the year 1783 they removed to Peacham, Vermont, where their sons had previously taken up land and cleared farms, and with whom they resided.

She died in June, 1818, at the age of eighty-nine years, and was buried in the old graveyard, on the "Hooker Place," near a tall tree, standing on the south side of the present inclosure (1911).

There are many persons living who are familiar with the location of her grave, although the head and foot-stones have long since disappeared.

Timothy Cowles (No. 796), a grandnephew of Sarah Webster, died in California September, 1910, at the age of ninety-six years. In 1903, being then eighty-nine years old, he wrote to his niece, Jane E. Cowles, in relation to the funeral of his great aunt, as follows: "Sarah Webster died at the home of her grandson, Hon. Moses Martin; I was at the funeral, and rode with my father and mother. The procession went from there, by the old road, past the Pitkin mill, to the Chamberlain place; thence to the old burying ground to a grave near the south side, about midway east and west; a large tree stood there."

Mrs. (Col.) Blanchard (No. 792), a great granddaughter of Sarah Webster, informed Mrs. Helen Guilford (No. 835), also a great granddaughter, that she attended Sarah Webster's funeral in 1818 at Peacham.

Captain Abijah Martin was a seafaring man, who owned his own vessels, and sailed the high seas.

He used to delight his grandchildren by relating his various sea voyages and adventures. Once, when in China, he wished to replenish his wardrobe; his coat had become so much the worse for wear that it had patches on the elbows, the buttons were of various descriptions, some black and some white, some of brass and some of bone, etc. He went to a Chinese tailor, who took his measure and asked if he wanted the coat like the one he was wearing. Captain Martin replying in the affirmative, the tailor made a minute inspection of the old coat. The new coat, when completed, was found to be an almost exact counterpart of the old one; the odd buttons and patches on the elbows being a prominent feature of the likeness.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH II.

Captain Reuben Hand, of Peacham, Vt., sixth generation (No. 193, pages 33, 34), first son of Elias Hand and Sarah Martin, and grandson of Captain Abijah Martin and Sarah Webster, was born at Woodbury, Conn., in 1777.

He married Cir. 1801, Electa Hurd. In early life he removed to Peacham, Vt., where he took up land and cleared a farm. He was one of the prominent citizens of Peacham in the early days. He was appointed Captain of the State Militia, and was elected High Sheriff of the Town of Peacham, where he died October 22, 1822.

His wife, Electa, was a very superior woman, and many of her graces of character and person have shown themselves in her daughters.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH III.

CHARLES HAND, sixth generation (No. 197, pages 33-35), third son and fifth child of Elias Hand and Sarah Martin, and grandson of Captain Abijah Martin and Sarah Webster, was born at Woodbury, Conn., in 1788.

He married Cir. 1808, Clara Hurd, sister of Electa Hurd, wife of Captain Reuben Hand. She was born in 1787.

He cleared a farm at Peacham, Vt., and lived there for about twenty years. In about the year 1827, he removed to North Troy, Vt., where he again took up land and cleared a second farm, on a part of which the Village of North Troy now stands.

He lived there for seven or eight years, when he exchanged his farm for a saw mill, called the "Creek Mill," almost on the national boundary line between Vermont and Canada. Here he lived for several years, when he sold the saw mill, and moved six miles farther into Canada, where he bought two hundred acres of land, mostly in virgin forest; and where, for the third time he cleared the land and made for himself and family a home. They lived here for over thirty years, when they removed to the home of their daughter, Flora, wife of Laverette Ashbel Hand (No. 212), and where he died September, 1876, at the age of eighty-eight years.

His wife died the same year, aged eighty-nine.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH IV.

ABBIE MELLEN CHAMBERLAIN (No. 296, page 44), fourth daughter and fifth child of Hon. Ezra Carter Chamberlain and Sarah Shedd, daughter of Dr. Josiah Shedd, was born at Peacham, Vt., July 19, 1840.

She is a great granddaughter of Hon. Samuel Chamberlain (No. 251) and Martha Mellen, and grandniece of Captain Ashbel Martin (No. 175), through his wife, Lydia Chamberlain.

It is interesting to recall the marriage notice in the ancient town records of Hopkinton, Mass.: "Married, Samuel Chamberlain and Martha Mellen, daughter of Deacon Henry Mellen; a godly man."

Thus we learn that her forbears were persons of exceptional endowments of intellectuality, patriotism and Christian principles.

The quality and value of her race, not only have not diminished, but in herself have deepened and strengthened as she has eagerly participatd in the multiplying beneficent enterprises of our rapidly growing country.

In order to keep in touch with the onward sweep of civilization, she, with her sisters, transferred their residence from the place of their birth to Cambridge, Mass., and for a part of each year to Washington, D. C.

As soon as Women's Missionary Societies were organized, she and her two sisters supported entirely one of their number, Miss Laura B. Chamberlain, as Missionary Teacher and Principal of the Girls' Boarding School at Sivas, Turkey, under the care of the American Board.

She has been for years the tireless, enthusiastic Secretary of the Chamberlain Association of the United States, and an active, devoted member of the Boston Tea Party Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

As Principal of Young Women's Schools she has labored with marked success, ever stimulating her pupils to emulate her own high ideals of life and service.

She has rendered valuable assistance to the literary clubs of Boston and Washington by her keen discrimination between the worthless and the fine in literature.

Philanthropic organizations appeal to her, and she has worked in many of them with effective force; in numberless ways unknown to the public in general, through her means and large-hearted sympathy, she has sustained and comforted many whose lives would otherwise have been desolate. Thus she is proving herself a worthy daughter of sires, who, on the shores of New England, exiled from the land of their birth, not only "rolled the Psalm to the wintry skies," but, with faith and power, laid the foundation of this, our great commonwealth.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH V.

HONORABLE MOSES MARTIN (Captain), sixth generation (No. 301, page 45), third son of Captain Ashbel Martin and Lydia Chamberlain, and grandson of Hon. Samuel Chamberlain, was born at Peacham, Vt., October 30, 1796.

He married first, at Peacham in 1819, Jane A. Martin, who was born September 28, 1799, and died May 29, 1826.

They had three children, Jane, Louisa and Mary.

He married second, Almyra Dana, daughter of Elisha Dana, of Pomfret, Conn. She was born May 6, 1803, and died August 2, 1870.

They had three sons and three daughters, as follows: Elizabeth Dana, Ashbel, Moses Mellen, Almyra, Edwin and Caroline Jane.

He was reared on his father's farm, which he inherited after his father's death, and which is still in the possession of the family.

He was a prominent and active citizen of the pioneer settlement during his life.

In his young manhood he was chosen Captain of the Militia, and was indispensable at the annual June trainings.

He was noted for his physical prowess; modest, unassuming and unpretentious withal. On one occasion it became necessary for him to "take the starch" out of the champion wrestler of the county; which he proceeded to do, to the entire satisfaction of the numerous onlookers and of the ex-champion himself.

Of public offices, he held many; was a Selectman of the Town for many years.

He represented Peacham in the State Legislature at Montpelier, Vt., at several sessions of that body.

He was an active member and for many years Deacon of the Congrgational Church.

He died May 31, 1874, honored and respected by all, and without an enemy in the world.

The Martin Homestead is at present occupied by his youngest daughter, Caroline Jane (Martin) Whitehill, familiarly known as Aunt Carrie, who, with her genial husband, Andrew Whitehill (a prominent figure in all town affairs), makes it the embodiment of hospitality, and the mecca of all the Martins of this branch—great and small—on many a Christmas and Thanksgiving Day.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH VI.

Captain Ashbel Martin, fifth generation (No. 175, pages 32, 37, 44), third son and fifth child of Captain Abijah and Sarah Webster, was born at Woodbury, Conn., in 1760, and baptized November 27, 1760.

He married first, at Peacham, Vt., Cir. 1785, Lorana Miner, who lived only a short time; they had no children.

He married second, Cir. 1789, Lydia Chamberlain, daughter of Hon. Samuel Chamberlain (No. 251, page 38) and Martha Mellen.

She was born at Hopkinton, Mass., in 1765, removed with her father to Canterbury, near Concord, Mass., and thence, in 1774, to London, N. H., where she remained during the troublous times of the Revolutionary War.

She removed to Peacham, Vt., some time during the year 1787, and probably lived with her brother General William Chamberlain (No. 255, page 40), and in all probability was married at his residence.

They had six sons and two daughters.

She died at Peacham, October 10 or 22, 1811, at the age of forty-six years.

He married third, at Peacham, in 1813, Mary (Roat) Martin, cousin to his first wife, Lorana Miner and widow of Captain Noah Martin, by whom she had had six children, as follows: Olive, Jane Adelaine (who married her stepbrother, Hon. Moses Martin; No. 301, page 45), Flora, Olive Augusta, John Marshall and Noah Henry.

Captain Ashbel Martin adopted the last four children mentioned, and offered them for baptism on July 24, 1814, with his infant daughter, Caroline.

He lived on the farm he had cleared, and in the home he had made; and died December 7, 1833, at the "Noah Martin Inn," at East Peacham, also called Peacham Hollow.

His third wife, Mary, survived him about four years, and died August 18, 1837, having been thrown from a wagon and receiving injuries which proved fatal within two hours.

While at his native town of Woodbury, Conn., Young Ashbel (then at the age of fifteen and a half), filled with patriotism, determined to follow the example of his three older brothers, and joined the ranks of the Continental Army in defense of his country.

His Revolutionary War record following is taken principally from the records of the Pension Bureau at Washington, D. C., and from a memorial by Miss Jane Elizabeth Cowles, read on the occasion of "Markers" being placed at the graves of eleven Revolutionary soldiers in the cemetery and old graveyard at Peacham on Decoration Day, May 30, 1905; his grave being decorated by Alma Bailey, a great-great-granddaughter.

In June, 1776, Ashbel Martin enlisted from Woodbury, Conn., for six months in the Company of Captain Hurd, Regiment of Colonel Sillman and Brigade of General Wadsworth. In the same month his Company marched to Norwalk, on the way to New York, and he was in the service until December 25, 1776. He was not in the engagement which resulted in the capture of General Sullivan August 27, but had recrossed from Long Island to New York City and from thence to Stamford, Conn., where he was sick at a private house. Upon recovering from this illness, he joined the army again, after the battle of White Plains. In 1777 he was in Lieut. Martin's Company, Colonel Sillman's Regiment, at Crumpond and Fishkill, and at Peekskill at the time of the burning of Esopus. In the fall of 1777, he was in Nathan Hurd's Company. In the winter of 1777 and 1778, he was three weeks at Horse Neck. In 1778, he was three weeks at Fishkill, in Gideon Martin's Company. In 1779, he was in Gideon Martin's Company at the burning of Norfolk. After the war he was made Captain of Militia at Peacham, Vt. On July 13, 1832, then seventy-two years of age, he applied for and received a pension.

The first sale of land in Peacham that we have been able to find on record was to Nathan Martin, of Woodbury, Conn., January 4, 1773, by Jacob Bailey, agent of the Land Company at Newbury, Vt. This is what is now known as the "Partridge Place" adjoining the Martin Homestead.

Abijah Martin bought one hundred acres on November 4, 1774.

Simeon Walker, a cousin of Captain Ashbel Martin, purchased Lot No. 66 on December 20, 1774. So we see that the Martins were early on the ground.

Little or no improvement was made on these properties at that time by reason of the breaking out of the Revolutionary War, which commanded the attention of the male portion of the Martin family. After the war they returned to the land they had taken up in Vermont.

In 1780, Ashbel Martin, with three or four of his brothers, left Woodbury, walking two hundred and fifty miles to what was to be their future home in Peacham; carrying with them utensils, tools, arms and ammunition to provide for themselves game for food, and to defend themselves against the Indians.

They worked during the summer months, clearing the land. The nearest depot for supplies was twenty miles away.

When the cold weather set in, they returned to their home at Woodbury for the winter; this performance was repeated for several years, so that the settlers on their route used to remark that they were like the birds who went south to winter.

One of the first log houses built was on what is now known as the "Martin Homestead," and became the home of Ashbel Martin; the other brothers located at different points not far distant. When they had clearings of sufficient size to raise foodstuffs enough to make them comparatively independent, the entire family moved to Peacham, including his father, Abijah, and his mother, Sarah.

There were by this time many other settlers in the neighborhood; Captain Ashbel's brother-in-law, General William Chamberlain, came with his bride on horseback to Peacham in 1781; later others of the Chamberlains followed.

The two families intermarried, and in the year 1790 there were of the Martins and Chamberlains fifty-one persons, all living within a radius of one and a quarter miles.

They were a sturdy lot, those early pioneers, enduring hardships, with which the present generation are unfamiliar, and of which they little dream.

The winters were generally more severe than now; Captain Ashbel used to relate to his grandchildren an unusual incident that occurred in the year 1816, called the cold year—frost and snow continuing until early summer.

Joseph Walker, husband of Elizabeth Martin (No. 82, page 19), then in his eighty-first year, had his feet frozen in the snow on the 8th day of June, 1816.

Captain Ashbel Martin was prominent in all the public affairs of the new settlement, was a man of sound judgment, of rare executive and business ability, a strong advocate of temperance, and one of the forerunners of that movement which made Vermont a prohibition state.

The fertility of the soil favored him; he prospered, his log dwelling and barns were added to from time to time.

About the year 1800, he was among the first in Caladonia County to build a frame house, which he erected within a hundred feet of the present dwelling, called the "Martin Homestead" and is now occupied by his granddaughter, Caroline Jane Martin, and her husband, Andrew Whitehill.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH VII.

Honorable Luther Fletcher Parker, M. D. (page 46), was a native of Coventry, Orleans County, Vermont; born September 22, 1821, the second of a family of eleven children. His early education was obtained in the local schools and in Brownington and Peacham Academies. During the years 1845-6, he attended the University of Vermont, at Burlington, but ill health obliged him to relinquish his studies, and for the next two years he taught school at Coventry Falls. He commenced the study of medicine in the office of Dr. G. W. Cobb, of Peacham, and on his death, continued with his successor, Dr. Farr, attending medical lectures at Dartmouth and Woodstock. He was subsequently requested by Dr. Brewer, of Barnet, to assume his large practice, which he retained until his removal to Peacham, March 16, 1854, when he purchased the professional connection of Dr. Farr. He received the degree of M. D. from Dartmouth in 1865. During the Civil War he was sent to the front in charge of a sum of money collected in Peacham for the Sanitary Commission, and arriving soon after the Battle of the Wilderness, he found the exigency of the occasion so great that he gave his professional services freely to the wounded of that dreadful contest. For more than fifty years he had an extensive practice, keeping fully abreast with the great advance of medical science, and gained a high reputation as a consulting physician in all the surrounding country.

In politics he was at first a Whig, and later a Republican; but though often requested to become a candidate for office, he always refused, except in 1886 and 1888, when he represented Peacham in the Legislature, and in both sessions served on the Ways and Means and Temperance Committees. He was one of the trustees of Peacham Academy, first appointed in 1855; a member of several medical societies; of the Peacham Congregational Church, and of the Vermont Home Missionary Society.

Dr. Parker married June 6, 1850, Louisa Martin (No. 308, page 46), daughter of Deacon Moses Martin of Peacham. She was born June 10, 1822, and died May 28, 1896. He died September 13, 1898, aged seventy-seven years. Their children were Jane Martin, Arabella P., Hazen Merrill, Elizabeth Ann, Ellen Louisa, Luther, Alma and Carrie Alice.

The lineage of Dr. Parker has been traced to the early settlers of the Massachusetts Bay Colony. His father, Hon. Isaac Parker of Coventry, was a native of Cavendish, a graduate of Middlebury College and a man of considerable note as a scholar and educator; his paternal grandfather, also named Isaac, was born in Westford, Mass., August 22, 1760, and enlisted in the Revolutionary War as a drummer before he had reached his fifteenth birthday. He took part in the battles of Concord and of Bunker Hill and served in several later campaigns. Further back the line runs through Lieutenant Moses, fourth generation; Aaron, third generation; Moses, second generation, to Abraham Parker, the immigrant, one of the founders of Chelmsford, Mass., in 1655, and the ancestor of a host of men of prominence in professional and mercantile life.

Dr. Parker's mother was Arabella Cobb, who was born in Westmoreland, N. H., June 24, 1795, daughter of Samuel and Silence (Barney) Cobb, whose family was noted for their superior physique and mechanical skill. The Cobbs were from Taunton, Mass., where the immigrant, John Cobb, settled, about 1650. The line comes through Samuel, second generation; Captain Richard, third generation, a soldier at Louisburg, and in later battles of the French and Indian Wars, to Samuel, fourth generation, a soldier of the Revolution and the pioneer settler of Coventry, Vt., the grandfather of Dr. Parker.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH VIII.

Colonel George Harvey (page 48), son of Duncan Harvey and Margaret Varnum, was born at Peacham, Vt., February 16, 1864.

He married, October 13, 1887, Alma Parker (No. 322, page 48), daughter of Dr. Luther Fletcher Parker and Louisa Martin, of Peacham.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH IX.

Reverend George Spofford Woodhull, D. D. (page 49), seventh generation, from Richard Woodhull, I., Patentee of Brookhaven, L. I., youngest son of William Woodhull and Phebe Carll, of New York City.

He was born at New York, July 25, 1829; was graduated from New York University, Class of 1848, with the Greek Honor; and from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1852; he was licensed to preach by the Presbytery of New York the same year, and was ordained as an Evangelist by the Presbytery of West Jersey in 1853.

From 1861 to 1864, he was Chaplain in the United States Army, in Fourth Virginia Infantry, until 1863, when West Virginia was admitted into the Union; then in the Fourth West Virginia Infantry.

He was pastor for many years of the Presbyterian Church at Point Pleasant, Mason County, Va., now a part of West Virginia; later was pastor of the Pioneer Presbyterian Church at Marinette, Wis., for ten years, serving also other churches for shorter period; his last charge being at Saginaw, Mich.

He had the honorary degree of D. D., or S. T. D. conferred upon him by the New York University.

At the age of seventy, Dr. Woodhull was honorably retired by the Presbytery of Flint, Mich.

He married at Peacham, Vt., October 25, 1855, Elizabeth Dana Martin (No. 310, page 49), daughter of Hon. Moses Martin, of Peacham, Vt.

They had five children, of whom two are living: Mrs. Thomas Arthur Hay, of New York City, and Mrs. (Rev.) Charles Dutton Jacobs, of Joliet, Ill.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH X.

Thomas Arthur Hay, second son of James Hay and Jessie Bain, of Woodstock, Ontario, was born at Woodstock, August 29, 1850.

He received his education at the Public Schools of Woodstock with one year at the George Strahan Grammar School of the same place.

At the age of fourteen, he was apprenticed for five years to Roderick A. Dingwall, watchmaker and jeweler.

In 1869 he removed to Menekaune, Wis., on the Menominee River.

In 1870 he located at Peshtigo, Wis., a lumbering town on the Peshtigo River, and engaged in the watchmaking and jewelry business there.

On the evening of October 8, 1871, the same night as the great Chicago fire, the Village of Peshtigo was swept by a forest fire, which destroyed every building in the place. It extended for a stretch of seventy miles, through forest and farm.

The total number of lives lost is variously estimated at from eight hundred to one thousand.

Only those escaped who took to the river, and many, even in the water, were either suffocated or drowned.

Daylight revealed hundreds of bodies, in all directions, of those who had failed to reach the river.

Mr. Hay was one of the fortunate survivors. After the fire he located at Marinette, Wis., about seven miles distant, another lumbering town on the Menominee River.

Five years later he married on January 12, 1876, Julia Louisa Woodhull (No. 336, page 49), daughter of Rev. George Spofford Woodhull, D. D., Presbyterian minister of that place, and Elizabeth Dana Martin.

She was born at Point Pleasant, Va., November 7, 1856.

In 1883 he removed to New York City, taking charge of James Hay & Company's reed and rattan furniture business there.

Their children are Woodhull Hay and Arthur Woodhull Hay, all residing at New York.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XI.

Reverend George Edmund Woodhull, eighth generation (No. 338, page 50), second son and third child of Rev. George Spofford Woodhull, D. D., and Elizabeth Dana Martin, was born at Point Pleasant, Va., October 17, 1860.

He graduated with the degree of M. A., at Princeton University, Class of 1884, and from Princeton Theological Seminary, May, 1887.

From 1887 to 1888 he was Home Missionary at West Plains, Miss., where he married June 7, 1888, Lillie May Johnson, daughter of Edward and Mary Johnson, of that place.

March 19, 1888, he was commissioned a Foreign Missionary to Japan by the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions.

On September 30, 1888, he was ordained a Minister of the Gospel by the Presbytery of New York.

He sailed for Osaka, Japan, arriving there the same year, and took up the work nearest to his heart; that of preaching the Gospel to the people of Japan, which work he continued, with enthusiasm and joy, until his death at Tokyo, October 11, 1895.

A memorial service was held by the West Japan Mission at its annual meeting at Kyoto, November, 1895.

To the father of the deceased, the Secretary wrote as follows: "Your son was a beloved and highly honored member of this body; many were the tributes made to his kindness, unselfishness, zeal and success in his work. No man was ever more sincerely mourned."

A Japanese pastor, Rev. Mr. Wada, said of him, "Many words which I heard him speak years ago in Osaka are still sounding in my ears. Many Japanese friends to-day join with his family and foreign friends in lamenting his sad and untimely death. In him the West Japan Mission lost one of its most earnest and successful workers."

He left a widow, a son and two daughters; the son, George Edmund, Jr., has since deceased; the daughters, Arima and Caroline, reside with their mother at Los Angeles, Cal.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XII.

Reuben Colburn Merryman, son of Andrew C. Merryman, lumberman, of Marinette, Wis., married at Saginaw, Mich., June 14, 1884, Phebe Almyra Woodhull (No. 339, page 51), daughter of Rev. George S. Woodhull, D. D., and Elizabeth D. Martin of Saginaw.

She died at Marinette, Wis., January 29, 1890.

He married second, Agnes Hathaway, daughter of Oscar C. and Mary J. Hathaway, of Green Bay, Wis.

Mr. Merryman received his business training in the office and saw mill of his father; and in 1882 became a partner in the lumber firm of R. W. Merryman & Co., of which his uncle, Robert W. Merryman, was principal owner.

The Menominee River, on which were situated the saw mills of his father and uncle, was one of the greatest lumbering places of the world.

In the year 1889 the Boom Company handled 642,000,000 feet of pine logs, which, cut up into lumber, one inch thick, would encircle the globe with a boardwalk four feet wide.

Besides his lumber interests on the Monominee, Mr. Merryman is manager and chief owner of the Merryman Fruit, Land and Lumber Co., Exeter, Cal.; owning fruit lands and raising fruit at Exeter; owning large tracts of redwood timber lands in Eureka County and interested in the manufacture of lumber at St. Helens, Oregon.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XIII.

Reverend Charles Dutton Jacobs was born in Mahoning County, Ohio, February 11, 1860. He removed with his parents to Youngstown, Ohio, in 1863 or 1864.

His father, Thomas Jacobs, died in Washington September 3, 1864.

He graduated from Adelbert College of the Western Reserve University, Class of 1882, with the degree of B. A., and in 1890 received his degree of M. A. from the same university.

He graduated from Auburn Theological Seminary in 1885; was ordained to the Gospel Ministry by the Presbytery of Lake Superior, October 20, 1885, and at the same time installed as pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Johpeming, Mich., where he remained until November, 1894.

He was Pastor at Hillsdale, Mich., from December, 1894, to August, 1899; Pastor of Memorial Presbyterian Church at Detroit, Mich., from September, 1899, to December, 1910, and was ordained Pastor of Central Presbyterian Church, Joliet, Ill., January, 1911.

He was Commissioner to General Assembly from Lake Superior and Detroit Presbyteries, and served each of these Presbyteries for a number of years as Stated Clerk.

He was elected Moderator of the Synod of Michigan at Jackson October 10, 1905.

He married first, Abbie Palmer, of Cayuga County, N. Y., May 27, 1885, by whom he had five children: Gordon, Palmer, Metta, Rachael and Abbie.

She died March 15, 1904.

He married second, October 25, 1907, Caroline J. Woodhull (No. 340, page 51), daughter of Rev. George Spofford Woodhull, D. D., and Elizabeth Dana Martin, of Saginaw, Mich.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XIV.

Honorable Ashbel Martin, seventh generation (No. 311, page 51), eldest son and second child of Hon. Moses Martin and Almyra Dana, was born on the Homestead farm at Peacham, Vt., December 2, 1830.

He received his education at the District School and the Caladonia County Grammar School.

In his early manhood he worked on his father's farm; teaching school in the winter months.

About the time he arrived at his majority, the country was ablaze with the news of the discovery of gold in California.

Young Ashbel, with others, contracted the "gold fever."

It is quite probable that his parents did not sympathize with him in what seemed to be the only cure for the disease—a trip to the Pacific Coast—as having decided to take the cure, he borrowed money for the journey, took sail with some Peacham friends from New York to Panama; packed his worldly goods across the deadly Isthmus, and sailed up the coast, reaching the mining district in the spring of 1852.

His first earnings were sent home to repay the loan above mentioned, after which he staked out a claim in the Placer mines.

After working his claim for about three years and a half he returned home with what "dust" he had been able to collect strapped around his waist, and purchased the Chamberlain farm from Deacon Ezra Chamberlain, son of General William Chamberlain.

This farm he added to, from time to time, until it became one of the largest and best in Caladonia County, equipped with the most modern machinery and appliances; it is still in possession of his family, being now successfully operated by his youngest son, William Brock Martin, who enjoys the reputation of being one of Peacham's most popular and influential citizens.

On November 5, 1857, Ashbel Martin married Hannah Wesson, daughter of Moses and Phebe Wesson, of Danville, Vt.

He was closely identified with all public affairs, holding many town offices; for many years one of its "Selectmen."

He represented Caladonia County in an able manner in the State Legislature at Montpelier, Vt., during the Session of 1874.

He was a patriotic citizen, a good neighbor and generous to a fault in every good work.

He was deeply interested in, and took a leading part in, the Congregational Church, of which he was a Deacon for many years until his death January 8, 1899, at the age of sixty-nine years.

Ever a faithful companion and helpmeet, his widow survives him now in her eighty-first year, enjoying good health and taking an active interest in all the affairs of the younger families about her.

She lives with her son, Deacon Moses Wesson Martin, on his farm at Peacham.

He, following in the footsteps of his father, holds several public offices and offices of trust, and is closely identified with all the activities of Church and State.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XV.

Reverend Moses Mellen Martin, D. D., seventh generation (No. 312, page 53), second son and third child of Hon. Moses Martin and Almyra Dana, was born at Peacham, Vt., April 8, 1834, upon a farm that has been the home of six generations of his family.

He inherited sterling qualities and sound judgment from a good stock of ancestors, counting among them the Hon. John Webster and John Marsh of Hartford, Conn., the Chamberlains and Mellens of Hopkinton, Mass.

His great-grandfather, Hon. Samuel Chamberlain, having married Martha Mellen, daughter of Deacon Henry Mellen and Abigail Pratt of that town; the old records mention Deacon Mellen as a "godly man."

His grandparents, Captain Ashbel Martin and Lydia Chamberlain, were among the first settlers of Peacham, Vt., and were among the first who built frame houses in that locality.

He received the rudiments of education in the district where his father lived; fitted for college at Peacham Academy, and graduated from Middlebury College in 1861, and from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1864. He held pastorates in Prescott and Mazomanie, Wis., and in Three Oaks, Allegan and Ovid, Mich., where he died September 25, 1902. All these pastorates were eminently successful. Executive ability was a striking characteristic, and all his pastorates gave tangible evidence of his power to accomplish large results under forbidding conditions.

A brother minister says of him, "The longer I knew him, the stronger was the feeling which possessed me that here was a grand man, deriving many of his splendid qualities by heredity from that vigorous New England stock, of which he was himself so fine a representative; receiving as a parental legacy that manly beauty of form and feature; that well-balanced intellect; that trained conscience; that unpretentious piety, which clothed him as with a garment of beauty; and a full equipment of gifts and graces, which made a well-rounded manhood. Added to this inheritance, was a native culture and a thorough educational discipline, combined with a clearness and maturity of judgment, and coupled with a great kindness of heart and a wholesome sense of humor, giving a poise and yet an elasticity to his life, which made him a good counselor and a chosen companion."

It was in 1880, that, bereft of all family ties, he met and was married to Miss Mary Pierce, daughter of Alvah Warren Pierce and Lydia Wilkins Atwood, of Londonderry, Vt., who, with their four children, Pauline, Percis, Mellen and Blanche, will cherish the memory of a rarely thoughtful and affectionate husband and father.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XVI.

ANDREW WHITEHILL, Peacham, Vt., son of William Whitehill, of Ryegate, Vt., was born at Ryegate, September 17, 1836.

At the age of thirty he followed Horace Greeley's advice and went west as far as Iowa, and took up many acres of prairie land near Marshall and State Centre, intending to make that his home; but the call of the east became so strong that he returned in 1874 to Peacham.

He married Caroline Jane Martin (No. 315, page 55), daughter of Hon. Moses Martin and Almyra Dana of Peacham, and purchased the Martin Homestead, which farm has greatly improved under his successful and progressive management.

He is a man very much respected in the community in which he lives; of sound judgment; his wise counsels are often sought.

His fellow citizens have honored him with many town offices, among which are those of "Lister" (Tax Assessor) and Road Inspector.

He is an expert judge of horses, sheep and cattle; for many years a director of the Co-operative Creamery Company of South Peacham.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XVII.

LYMAN MARTIN, seventh generation (No. 363, page 56), first child and only son of Captain Leonard Martin and Elizabeth Kellog, was born at Peacham, Vt., November 5, 1827.

When he was five years of age, his parents removed with their family to Dixville, Que., purchased land, and cleared a farm.

In those days means of travel were very crude; everything in the way of household goods and produce had to be hauled by ox sleds from Montreal, a distance of about eighty miles.

At the age of twenty-seven he married Isabelle Lorimer, of Beebe, Que., who was born in Scotland in 1829.

Their life on the old farm, blazed out of the virgin forest by his father, has been a very active and happy one. Seven children and twelve grandchildren assist in making them keep pace with the times.

On January 14, 1911, they celebrated their fifty-seventh wedding anniversary in full possession of all their faculties, interested in the town and the church, which is very dear to them; having lived to see great changes in all the townships about them. Coaticook, their early home at one time, boasted only of two houses. They expect to celebrate several more wedding anniversaries, with their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren all under the old home roof again.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XVIII.

Irvin Marcus Martin (No. 381, page 57), a minister in the denomination of Seventh Day Adventists, was born in Dixville, Province of Quebec, November 11, 1883, the son of John Lorimer and Nancy Elva Martin. His father died when he was seven years old, and his mother removed with him to Morrisville, Vt. His early education was received from the graded schools of that town, and from the Peoples' Academy, also a Morrisville institution.

In the year 1902, having in view the ministry as a life's work, he entered the Seventh Day Adventist Academy, situated at South Lancaster, Mass., where he studied three years, leaving to take up active work in the denomination.

He married, July 3, 1905, Harriet Sophia Needham, daughter of Mary Jane and Amos Prescott Needham, and a direct descendant of General Prescott, who shared the honors of Bunker Hill with General Putnam. He was married in Washington, D. C., and immediately went to Pennsylvania with his bride and entered the employ of the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference. At the time of his ordination he was Pastor of the North Philadelphia Church, in the City of Philadelphia, when he was twenty-four years of age. He was also made a member of the Conference Committee at this time.

More recently he has been employed by the General Conference of South Dakota Adventists, and has been holding large evangelistic meetings in the South. His last pastorate was at Asheville, N. C., where he succeeded in raising up a prosperous church.

Reverend and Mrs. Martin have one son, John Needham Martin, age two years and nine months.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XIX.

John Gibson McCoy, son of Alfred McCoy, was born at Dixville, Que., August 31, 1861.

He lived with his parents on their farm until he arrived at the age of twenty-one.

In 1886 he went to the Pacific Coast, remaining in California for about two years, when he returned to his native town, and on October 24, 1888, married Carrie Bell Martin (No. 373, page 58), daughter of Lyman Martin and Isabelle Lorimer.

He purchased part of his father's farm at Dixville, where they resided for twenty-three years.

He was one of the representative men of Dixville, taking an active part in all public affairs; serving, with credit, for several terms on the Village Council, besides holding other public offices.

In May, 1911, he removed, with his family, to Barnston, Que., where he had purchased the farm formerly settled by his great-grandfather, and where they now reside. They have three children, Martin Alfred, Frank Griffith and Alice Agnes.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XX.

Addison Benjamin Cushing, son of Deacon M. T. Cushing, an early settler of Barnston, Que., was born December 16, 1828.

He was married at Stanstead Plain, Que., January 22, 1852, by the Rev. M. Hall, to Electa Martin (No. 364, page 59), daughter of Captain Leonard Martin and Elizabeth Kellog.

After their marriage, they settled on what is now known as the C. C. Hanson farm in Barford, Que., where four of their children were born.

In 1859 they removed to Chatfield, Minn., where he engaged in mercantile business; here their four younger children were born.

After the outbreak of the Civil War they returned to Canada, and purchased his father's farm, which became their permanent home.

In addition to the management of the farm, he had other business interests, which necessitated his visiting pretty thoroughly all parts of the United States and Canada.

On January 22, 1902, they celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary at the residence of their son, John Nelson Cushing, Peninsula Dairy Farm, Dixville, Que. Two sons and two daughters were present on the occasion; of their ten grandchildren, nine are living and four of these were present; of their eleven great-grandchildren, five are living, and three of these were present, adding sunshine to the festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Martin, of Dixville, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, were honored guests, they having attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Cushing fifty years before; they also having just celebrated their own Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Cushing were both hale and hearty; she herself having prepared and cooked the dinner for the occasion, allowing herself to be assisted only in "setting" the long tables and "dishing up," remarking that she was "not a bit tired."

The groom looked fresh and ruddy, having been in the habit of milking from twelve to nineteen cows daily, besides attending to other chores around the premises.

Nine years afterwards, on February 10, 1911, very much the same gathering was repeated when they celebrated their fifty-ninth wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Martin being again present.

Mr. and Mrs. Cushing enjoy exceptional health, being eighty-three and eighty-two years of age respectively. Mr. Cushing having walked, within a year, hundreds of miles as canvasser for a Nursery Company, in whose interests he has been engaged continuously for many years.

A poem of forty verses was composed by their daughter, Mrs. Flora E. Hamm, and read upon the occasion of the anniversary; after which they all joined in reading the one hundred and third Psalm, as an expression of their thankfulness and joy.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXI.

William Lorimer, second son of John Lorimer, was born at Portsoy, Scotland, January 12, 1819.

His father came to Canada with his wife and family in 1830; the voyage, in a sailing vessel, taking seven weeks.

They settled in the Township of Stanstead, Village of Beebe Plain, Que., where he died in 1841, leaving a wife and eleven children.

The eldest left home to engage in mercantile pursuits; William and James, next in age, carrying on the farm.

William Lorimer married at Barford, Que., September 23, 1851, Sarah Martin (No. 365, page 63), daughter of Captain Leonard Martin and Elizabeth Kellog.

They had six sons and two daughters: John Martin, Elizabeth Johnston, Joseph Alexander, Charles James, Leonard Martin, Addison Benjamin, Isabel Carrie and Albert William.

He died at Beebe Plain, October 27, 1900, at the age of eighty-one years.

His widow, who survives him, residing at Beebe Junction, is hale and hearty at the age of eighty, surrounded by her numerous children, grand and great-grandchildren.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXII.

Laurin Martin, seventh generation (No. 368, page 67), eldest child of Captain Leonard Martin and Pricilla Abbott, was born at Barford, P. Q., August 27, 1843. He spent his early life on his father's farm at Dixville, P. Q In 1863 he moved to Lowell, Mass., and was employed at different times by H. Hosford & Co., J. C. Ayer & Co. and Adams & North.

On July 7, 1864, he was sworn in at Readville Company G, old Sixth Regiment; then called for the last one hundred days of the Civil War. He was with his Company at Arlington Heights and Fort Delaware, and returned from the service and was mustered out October 27, 1864.

He entered the employ of the Merchants' National Bank, Lowell, Mass., going thence to the Old Lowell National Bank. He did double service in that bank and the Lowell Institution for Savings until 1869, when he devoted his time exclusively to the latter institution.

On November 17, 1870, he married Kate Smith Hovey, daughter of Charles Hovey, of Lowell, Mass. Three children were born to them.

He was an enthusiastic poultry fancier, and on the organization of the Middlesex Poultry Association, was chosen its first President. He remained until April 25, 1878, the date of his death, with the Lowell Institution for Savings, and was always a competent, faithful and model bank officer.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXIII.

Laurin Hovey Martin, eighth generation (No. 446, page 68), second son of Laurin Martin and Kate Smith Hovey, was born at Lowell, Mass., May 30, 1875.

He married September 19, 1904, Harriet Nesmith Greenhalge, only daughter of Frederick Greenhalge, Ex-Governor of Massachusetts.

He was educated at the public schools of Lowell; studied decorative design at and graduated from Cowles Art School, Boston.

He took a course of practical designing at Birmingham (England) School of Art and won a medal for excellence in design and workmanship at the National Exhibition, held at London, England, in 1899.

He is now instructor in Arts and Crafts at the Massachusetts Art School, Boston.

One daughter, Isabel Grace, was born to them.

They reside at Lowell, Mass.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXIV.

Edmond Ware, father-in-law of Dr. Lyman Martin (No. 299, page 69), was one of the most prominent and influential citizens of Woodford County, Ky.; owning a large tract of land and many slaves.

He married Sukey Brassfield, of Culpeper, Va.

Their children were: James Ware, born September 18, 1787; John Ware, born May 28, 1790; Sally Ware, born January 20, 1792; Lewis Ware, born January 16, 1794; Catherine Ware, born May 28, 1796; Edmond Ware, 2d, born July 27, 1798.

Their daughter Catharine was born in the old Homestead on their plantation, which house is still in a good state of preservation, and is owned by Mr. A. M. Smith.

She married in 1818 Dr. Lyman Martin, eldest son and second child of Captain Ashbel Martin and Lydia Chamberlain. She was a woman of great strength of character and decided executive ability; was a devoted member of the Baptist Church, and died at the age of eighty-eight years, at the home of John Boyle Martin, then her only living child.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXV.

Dr. Lyman Martin, sixth generation (No. 299, page 69), second child of Captain Ashbel Martin and Lydia Chamberlain, was born at Peacham, Vt., May 12, 1793; died August 23, 1864; graduated in medicine at Dartmouth College, and in 1816 began practice as an associate of Dr. Mussey, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

While yet a young man, Dr. Martin was sent by his senior to assist in handling a typhoid epidemic at Vevay, Ind. He acquitted himself with such credit on this mission that Dr. Mussey offered him an active partnership in his practice, but, having formed attractive associations in the Kentucky neighborhood of Vevay, he declined the offer and established a practice at New Liberty. An important factor in this decision was his marriage, in 1818, to Catharine Ware, daughter of Edmond Ware and Sukey Brassfield, of Culpeper, Va., and Woodford County, Kentucky. After their marriage they at once removed to New Liberty, Ky., and made that their home.

Dr. Martin was a man of culture and scholarly attainments; he lived far in advance of his time, and he was perhaps the most progressive citizen that Owen County has ever had. He was interested in the betterment of country roads and schools. He organized a village library and two institutions of learning in the town of New Liberty, which institutions were attended by pupils not only from the State at large, but from neighboring States as well. It is supposed that he built the "Martin Institute" at his own expense. The town of New Liberty was burned soon after his death and it has never been educationally important since.

He was a "Whig" politically, and while he owned slaves, he enthusiastically espoused the Union cause; not recognizing, however, the right of the North to confiscate their property without reimbursement. Notwithstanding this belief, he was strongly opposed to the disruption of these United States for any reason.

As a physician he occupied an exceptional position. A call of thirty or forty miles was not an unusual occurrence, nor were such calls ever unheeded. He was greatly beloved by his people, was a man of most attractive personality, great dignity of bearing, and a most lovable nature. He was a man of power and influence in his community, and the effect of his example was manifest long after his activities were ended.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXVI.

Dr. James Lyman Martin, seventh generation (No. 454, page 69), fourth son and fifth child of Dr. Lyman Martin and Catharine Ware, was born at New Liberty, Ky., in 1831.

Educated at the common schools of Owen County and Georgetown College, Georgetown, Ky. Graduated in medicine in Cincinnati, and practiced his profession in New Liberty. He married Miss Fanny E. Fish. No children.

Like his father, Dr. Lyman Martin, he was a man of great power and influence for good in the community in which he lived and died. He enjoyed a wide reputation as a professional man, and was universally respected and loved. He died in 1881, at the age of fifty, in the zenith of his career.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXVII.

JOHN BOYLE MARTIN, 1ST, seventh generation (No. 452, page 69), third son of Dr. Lyman Martin and Catherine Ware, was born at New Liberty, Owen County, Ky., October 17, 1825; died in Louisville, Ky., March 24, 1901, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Attilla Cox, and was buried at Owenton, Ky.

He received his education in the common schools and academies of New Liberty, and upon the completion of his studies, engaged in mercantile business.

In 1859 Mr. Martin was married to Miss Martha Yates Leonard, second child of Tolbert Leonard and Lavina Ellis, who was born February 19, 1828, at Stamping Ground, Scott County, Ky. She was a woman of great strength of mind and character, and filled all positions in life with grace and dignity becoming her noble womanhood. She was ever ready in all work for the betterment of humanity.

She died January 25, 1899, in Covington, Ky., at the residence of her son, William C. Martin.

John Boyle Martin was for many years engaged in business at New Liberty, but in November, 1878, moved to Owenton, Ky., where he filled an office to which he was elected and re-elected for many terms by his fellow citizens.

Mr. Martin held various positions of honor and trust in his native county, and was universally respected, esteemed and admired. He was a man of great dignity of character and unfailing courtesy; of firm convictions, but unusually tolerant of the frailties and shortcomings of others. He was a lifelong member of the Church of the Disciples, and for many years held the position of Elder. He was devoted to the interests of his Church.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXVIII.

Honorable Attilla Cox, son of James Pleasant Cox and Felicia Oboussier, was born at Ghent, Ky., August 16, 1843, and died at Louisville, July 7, 1909. He married, April 29, 1869, Kate Ware Martin (No. 455, page 70), daughter of John Boyle Martin and Martha Yates Leonard, who at this date (1911) survives him.

Mr. Cox was the second of four brothers, and a descendant of an old Virginia and Maryland family. He was educated in the common schools of Carroll County. The death of his father, at an early period in his life, made it necessary for him to become an active bread winner.

With his brothers he embarked in a general merchandise business at Owenton, Ky., under the firm name of F. & A. Cox & Co. By vigorous and aggressive management, this business was soon expanded to include interests in local banking companies; all the more important roads and transportation lines in the county; the first intervillage telephone installed in the State, and other county utilities and interests. During these years Mr. Cox, by his natural qualities of leadership, acquired a political popularity, which in 1879 sent him to the State Senate as the Democratic representative of his district. He served two terms as Senator, and was actively interested in the Presidential campaign of 1884. He was a member of the National Notification Committee, which formally notified Mr. Cleveland of his nomination. On Cleveland's election Mr. Cox was appointed Collector of Internal Revenue of the Fifth District of Kentucky, and moved his family to Louisville to take charge of that office on July 1, 1885. In his new environment, Mr. Cox exhibited such marked ability that, upon the expiration of his term as Collector, he successfully organized the Mechanics' Savings Bank and Trust Co., of Louisville (February 2, 1889), and, as President of that institution, so successfully managed its affairs that in 1891 he was able to affect a consolidation with the Columbia Finance and Trust Co., becoming President of the combined concern, under the latter name. He built up this company, until at the time of his death it was one of the largest and strongest institutions of its kind in the South.

In addition to his banking interests, he became so widely known as a successful financier and business man that his services were eagerly sought in other lines. In 1893 he was appointed Receiver of the Louisville, St. Louis and Texas Railroad, and operated this road with such results that he was able to reorganize it, in 1896, as the Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis Railroad Co., of which company he was President until his death. At the time of his death he was a Director of the L. and N. Railroad; the Louisville Ry. Co.; the Louisville Gas Company; the Louisville Traction Co.; Federal Chemical Company; the Springfield Railway and Light Co., of Springfield, Ill., and various other concerns.

Mr. Cox had unusual qualities for successful business enterprises. He was patient, cagacious, far-sighted. He was courteous, considerate, thoughtful. He was a good judge of men and a good judge of values. He was a man of the gentlest feelings, of the most courteous manners, of the most unselfish nature; a most valued associate, a most delightful companion.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXIX.

Lieut. Com. Leonard Martin Cox, ninth generation (No. 460, page 70), eldest son of Hon. Attilla and Kate Martin

Cox, was born at New Liberty, Ky., March 21, 1870. Educated in the common schools of Owenton and Louisville, the Louisville Male High School, and the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute of Troy, New York. Profession: Civil Engineering. Engaged variously in railroad and mining engineering until 1899, when he was commissioned in the Corps of Civil Engineers, United States Navy, with rank of Lieutenant, junior grade. Commissioned with rank of Lieutenant in 1907, and again with rank of Lieutenant Commander in 1909. Served at various navy yards and stations on dry dock construction and other maritime engineering works. He married, in 1895, Jane Torbitt Castleman, daughter of Samuel Castleman and Kate Brinker Gist. One child, Katharine Castleman Cox, born March 4, 1899.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXX.

Attilla Cox, Jr., ninth generation (No. 461, page 71), second son of Hon. Attilla Cox and Kate Ware Martin, was born at Owenton, Ky., February 21, 1875. Educated at private schools of Louisville, Ky. He attended the law course at Kentucky University; summer law school at University of Virginia, and the regular law course at New York University. While at the latter institution, he was a student in the office of the firm of which Elihu Root was then a member. He returned to Kentucky and was admitted to the bar of that State.

He began the practice of law with the firm of Pirtle & Trabue in 1898 and was soon admitted to partnership under the well-known firm name of Trabue, Dolan & Cox. He has been licensed to practice in the Supreme Court of the United States; is Southern counsel for the Illinois Central Railroad, and has been retained in many important cases involving large interests. He is a Director of the Columbia Trust Co. (which concern was founded by his father), the Peaslee-Gaulbert Co., the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis Railroad, and other business concerns. In 1898 he married Carrie Rogers Gaulbert, daughter of George Gaulbert and Harriet Rogers. They had one child, Harriet Rogers Cox, born March 25, 1901.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXXI.

William Chamberlain Martin, eighth generation (No. 456, page 71), eldest son and second child of John Boyle Martin, 1st, and Martha Yates Leonard, was born in New Liberty, Ky., October 29, 1851. He married Jane Bristow, of Kenton County, near Covington, Ky., November 19, 1878. Four children were born of this marriage, two of whom survive; Jane Bristow and Virginia Bryan. Mr. Martin is now a prominent business man of Cincinnati, living in Covington, where he is an esteemed citizen. His splendid optimism and fine social qualities making him a favorite wherever he is known.

When quite a young man, in March, 1876, Mr. Martin went to Cincinnati, O., and took a position with a manufacturing shoe concern. After a few years, upon the reorganizing of the business, he was made a partner, and continues in that business.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXXII.

Honorable James William Bryan, son of Lawrence Bryan and Catherine Powers, natives of Ireland.

He was born near Millersburg, Bourbon County, Ky., June 9, 1853; was graduated, the valedictorian of his class, at Wesleyan College, June 8, 1873.

In 1874 he entered as a student the law office of ex-Governor Stevenson, then United States Senator, and Judge James O'Hara, at Covington, Ky., and in the short space of six months was admitted a member of the bar; later becoming a member of the firm, under the name of Stevenson, O'Hara & Bryan.

In 1880 he was chosen Democratic Elector in the National Campaign, and as such bore the vote of the Electoral College of Kentucky to Washington.

In 1883 he was unanimously elected to represent the Sixth Congressional District in the State Senate of Kentucky for a term of four years.

In 1887 he was unanimously nominated and elected by the Democratic party as Lieutenant-Governor on a ticket headed by General Simon Boliver Buckner for Governor. He was elected with the ticket, receiving the largest number of votes cast for any candidate.

After his term of office expired, in 1891, he retired permanently from politics, and devoted his time to the practice of law in Covington, Ky., representing many large corporations and financial institutions in Kentucky and Ohio.

He married at Owenton, Ky., September 15, 1880, Virginia Ellis Martin (No. 457, page 72), daughter of John Boyle Martin, 1st, and Martha Yates Leonard, of Owenton. They had two children, Mattie Belle Bryan and Katharine Cox Bryan.

As the heritage of his Irish ancestry, he had ready wit, an eloquent tongue and a nature keenly sympathetic with his fellow men.

He died April 8, 1903, loved and respected by all who knew him.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXXIII.

John Boyle Martin, 2d, eighth generation (No. 459, page 72), third son and fifth child of John Boyle Martin, 1st, and Martha Yates Leonard; was born at New Liberty, Ky., March 2, 1860.

In 1882 he took a position in the Auditor's office at Frankfort, Ky., under General Fayatte Hewitt.

He married at Owenton, Ky., February 7, 1883, Belle Lawrence Teal, daughter of Lawrence and Fannie Teal, of Owenton.

Four children were born to them: William Teal, John Lawrence, Belle Teal and Lyman Chamberlain.

Mr. Martin is one of Owen County's solid citizens; his career has been one of both progress and achievement.

He has been prominently connected with all public movements for the good of his county and State since he began business, and commands the respect and confidence of all who know him.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXXIV.

JOHN LAWRENCE MARTIN, ninth generation (No. 473, page 73), second child of John Boyle Martin, 2d, and Belle Lawrence Teal, was born at Owenton, Ky., October 10, 1885.

In 1900 he attended the Hughett Military Academy at Danville, Ky., and entered the Central University in 1901; graduating from that institution with degree of B. S. in 1905.

In 1906 he took a post-graduate course at Princeton University, receiving his M. A. degree.

He studied law at Linesville, Ky., and at Washington, D. C., but his early predilection for journalism prevailed with him, and he determined to make that his profession.

He has held for five years important newspaper connections in Southern California and in Washington, D. C., where he now makes his home.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXXV.

HONORABLE LEWIS CONNOR NORMAN, son of Benjamin Norman, of Boone County, Ky., was born in Boone County June 1, 1848.

At the age of seventeen he joined the Confederate Army and soon became Captain of his Company and, at the age of twenty, was made Major of Cavalry, under the famous General John Morgan. At the close of the war he became County Surveyor, and later was elected County Attorney.

He represented his district in the State Senate and later became State Insurance Commissioner and State Auditor.

On December 15, 1868, he married Sarah Elizabeth Beck (No. 476, page 74), eldest daughter of Richard Simms Beck. 1st, and Martha Catherine Martin. Three children were the fruits of this marriage: Margaret Beck Norman, Martha Beck Norman and Attilla Cox Norman.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXXVI.

William David Beck, eighth generation (No. 478, page 75), second son and third child of Richard Simms Beck and Martha Catherine Martin, was born at New Liberty, Owen County, Ky., September 19, 1852, where he lived with his parents until 1869, when he removed to Osage County Mo., and from there in 1870 to Fairfield, Iowa.

In May, 1871, with eight other men, he made the journey across the western plains in a "Prairie Schooner," crossing the Missouri River at Omaha, from there to Denver, Col., pushing on through Wyoming, Idaho and Utah and into Montana, near Virginia City, at that time the capital of the Territory; the journey taking four months to make.

Here he remained nearly four years, when he returned to Kentucky, and on October 20, 1875, at Owenton, Ky., married his old school sweetheart, Ruth Forsee, daughter of James and N. V. Forsee, of Owenton. They had two children: James Richard and Henrietta Virginia. His wife died January 18, 1901.

In January, 1902, he removed to California, locating at Los Angeles.

On March 15, 1911, he, with his son, James Richard Beck, purchased a chicken ranch near El Monte, Cal., and here, in the land of sunshine and flowers, he expects to end his days.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXXVII.

Edward Hand Pitkin, eighth generation (No. 541, page 85), eldest son of Joshua Pitkin and Caroline Hand, was born at Saratoga, N. Y., June 9, 1846.

When three years of age his father went to California, returning in 1855. During this time his mother, with her two children, Edward and Nathan, resided in Peacham, Vt., her native place.

On the return of her husband the family moved to Cleveland, O., where they remained a number of years.

In 1860 they removed to Chicago, Ill., where Edward attended the public schools.

At the age of fifteen he went to work for the firm of Burley & Tyrrell, in the wholesale crockery business, remaining in their employ for eight years.

In 1869 he was engaged by the firm of Johnston & Adams as manager of their crockery department.

The great fire of Chicago, October 8, 9 and 10, 1871, which devastated many square miles of the business portion of Chicago, included in its victims his employers, Messrs. Johnston & Adams.

January 1, 1872, Edward H. Pitkin, with Jonathan W. Brooks, one of his old associates at Burley & Tyrrell's, started in business for themselves, one being the salesman and the other the office man.

Their trade increased steadily until now their business of importing and distributing pottery, lamps and glassware is one of the largest in the United States, with general offices and sales rooms at 48 to 56 Lake Street, Chicago, Ill.

Mr. Brooks retired from the firm of Pitkin & Brooks March 15, 1909, leaving Mr. Pitkin President and practically sole owner of the corporation.

On August 5, 1871, he married Lillie E. Morey, daughter of Lewis Morey of Oak Park. Five children were born to them: Lillie May, Frank Lewis, Caroline Estelle, Florence Emily and Elsie Frances.

They reside at Oak Park, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, of which place he is one of the solid citizens, being a member of the Second Congregational Church, and one of its trustees for twenty-two years.

He is a member of the Union League and Congregational Clubs, a trustee of Beloit College for over twenty years; one of the directors of the Chicago City Congregational Missionary Society; a corporate member of the American Board, and chairman of the Chicago Co-operating Committee of the American Board, and one of the trustees of Oak Park library.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXXVIII.

Edwin S. Merrill, son of Timothy Merrill and Clara Fassett, was born at Montpelier, Vt., June 2, 1817.

He was educated at Montpelier Academy. After his graduation he engaged as clerk in the Post Office at that place, and later in the same capacity in the Post Office at Burlington, Vt.

He removed to New York City and entered the employ of a wholesale jobbing house there. In 1844 he settled in Winchendon, Mass., where he engaged in mercantile pursuits until 1849, when he was appointed Postmaster of that place, which office he retained for a period of forty-three years, until his decease on January 11, 1892.

He was an ardent lover of music, and for many years led the singing in the Congregational Church.

August 8, 1843, he married at Peacham, Vt., Harriet Hurd Hand (No. 204, page 87), daughter of Captain Reuben Hand and Electa Hurd.

Six children were born to them, two of whom died in infancy; his widow, three daughters and one son surviving him: Clara Augusta, Alice Harriet, Frances Almira and Charles Arthur.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XXXIX.

John Wilder Gay, 2d, second son of John Wilder Gay, 1st, and Eunice Grout, of Winchendon, Mass., was born at Winchendon, October 21, 1850.

He married, June 19, 1850, Frances Almira Merrill (No. 556, page 88), daughter of Edwin S. Merrill and Harriet Hurd Hand.

The first ten years of his life were spent at Baldwinville, Mass., whither his parents had removed when he was quite young.

Returning to Winchendon in 1865, after completing his education, he went to work as a messenger boy for the Cheshire Railroad Co. He worked his way up and finally became Station Agent, which position he held for twenty-four years.

In 1893 he entered the employ of the Raymond and Whitcomb Excursion Company, as agent for Southern California. For fourteen years he was a devoted servant of that company, conducting parties from the East to California and return, also conducting several tourist excursions to Alaska and other parts.

While visiting Mrs. E. H. Price, of Troy, N. Y., his sudden and totally unexpected death on September 5, 1907, came as a terrible shock to his relatives and friends.

He was a man of most genial personality, kind hearted, generous and courteous; one who made friends wherever he went and kept them to the end of his life; loyal himself, he received loyalty from others.

His widow survives him, residing at Winchendon, Mass.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XL.

Charles Arthur Merrill (No. 558, page 89), sixth child of Edwin S. Merrill and Harriet Hurd Hand, was born at Winchendon, Mass., November 13, 1856, and after graduating at Worcester Military Academy, he entered the firm of E. S. Merrill & Son, books and stationery; they were also engaged in the insurance business. He was appointed Assistant Postmaster, which office he filled with credit, so that at the death of his father he received the appointment to fill the unexpired term of his father, and at the end of that term was reappointed postmaster.

He married at Malden, Mass., June 21, 1893, Helen Russell Brown, daughter of Thomas Brown of that place. They have two children: Mary Brown Merrill and Edwin Hand Merrill.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XLI.

Leverette Ashbel Hand, seventh generation (No. 212, page 89), second son and third child of Ashbel Hand and Laura Hurd, was born October 27, 1817, at Peacham, Vermont, and spent his early life in that State.

After two years in California, he came to Potton, Quebec, where he married December 6, 1853, his cousin, Flora Hand (No. 218), daughter of Charles Hand and Clara Hurd.

He purchased land and cleared a farm, which by good management and hard labor on his part became one of the largest and best equipped farms in the county. He succeeded in amassing a comfortable competence for their declining years. They had three children: Clara Elnett, Laura Emeline and Lizzie Electa.

Mrs. Hand died May 5, 1882, when his daughter, Lizzie, took upon herself the management of his household.

After her marriage, September 23, 1893, to Urban A. Darling, Mr. Hand turned over the management of the farm to his son-in-law.

In great comfort and ease, he watched the continued prosperity of the farm.

He died December 21, 1906.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XLII.

URBAN A. DARLING, son of Henry Alphonso Darling, of Morrisville, Vt., was born at Elmore, Vt., November 4, 1859. When six years of age his parents removed to Wisconsin, but only remained there a year, when they returned to Potten, P. Q., engaging in farming; where Urban grew up, taking an active interest in all things pertaining to agriculture. He is a member of the Society of Agriculture and has been appointed Judge of Farmers' Products for several years at the Brown County Fair for said Society.

For six years he was Town Councilor and for twelve years School Commissioner. September 23, 1893, he married Lizzie Electa Hand (No. 568, page 91), daughter of Laverette Ashbel and Flora Hand.

They are staunch members of the M. E. Church, as their parents were before them, and Mr. Urban Darling has been Superintendent of the Vale Perkins Sabbath School for many years.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XLIII.

HONORABLE JOHN WESLEY MCDUFFEE, son of William Grimsby McDuffee and Mary Ann Ball, was born at Stockton, Cedar County, Mo., August 19, 1865.

He married at Woodville, Okla., August 8, 1897, Annie Beyrl Carson (No. 594, page 99), daughter of Joseph Pine Carson and Helen Esther Bailey, of Woodville. Their children are: Olive Opal and Olin Floyd.

His father, William G. McDuffee, was born in Tennessee in May, 1826; his mother in Indiana in 1834.

In 1870 they removed from Missouri to Texas, the son being then five years of age.

John Wesley was residing in Indian Territory in what is now Marshall County, Okla. At the time when the Enabling Act was passed by Congress creating the State of Oklahoma, he was appointed by the Constitutional Convention, the first Clerk of Marshall County, and was entrusted with the task of copying the old Indian records of the Territory.

Being early on the ground, he acquired large landed interests in the new State; influential in its formation, and prominent in its early and continued growth.

He was elected to represent Marshall County in the second State Legislature, and was re-elected a member of the third Legislature, and is at present chairman of the Committee on Labor and Arbitration; member of Committees on Prohibition Enforcement; House Expenses and Public Accounts; County and Township Organization and Government, and Judicial and Senatorial Redistricting.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XLIV.

CHARLES PORTER, 1ST, son of Eleazar Porter, was born in July, 1812, in Vermont.

He married at Potton, Que., in 1836, Electa Hand (No. 216, page 102), daughter of Charles Hand and Clara Hurd, by whom he had five children: William Harrison, Orrin, Charles, Jr., Harvey and Ann. Mrs. Porter died in California in 1886.

In the early history of roads in this country, a trail was cut through the woods, on which freight was conveyed by pack horse. As the settlements increased, these trails were widened to admit of the old ox cart, or wagon in summer and the sled in winter. Swamps and marshy places were avoided; these roads were very poor at best, and in spring and autumn well nigh impassable.

In course of time these made way for the gravel road, with ditches on each side; swamps and marshes were corduroyed; the latter being in many instances several miles in length.

It was at this period that Charles Porter came to the front as a Master Freighter, owning his own four, six and eight-horse teams, carrying merchandise between N. Troy, Vt., and Boston, Mass.; conducting a business which is now superseded by our great railway corporations on roads of steel.

The last two years of his life he lived at Charleston, N. H., and used his teams on contracts for the Pasumpsic Railroad, which was then being built.

There he contracted lung fever, and died April 7, 1848, at the age of thirty-five years and nine months. His remains were conveyed by team to his old home at North Troy, Vt.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XLV.

William Harrison Porter, eighth generation (No. 671, page 103), eldest son of Charles Porter, 1st, and Electa Hand, was born at North Troy, Vt., June 22, 1837.

He moved to Canada in 1860, marrying, first, at Melbourn, Que., March 1, 1860, Elizabeth Stimson, daughter of James Stimson, of Melbourn.

He removed to Tinwick, Arthaback County, Que., where he purchased a farm and where they resided until 1873. Here they had five children: Charles, George Henry, Ida Luella and Cora Estelle.

They removed to Shipton, County of Richmond, Que., remaining on their farm, at that place, until 1903, where his wife, Elizabeth, died December 16, 1903.

He closed his house and made his home with his children, George Henry, a farmer of Danville, Que., and Cora Estella, who married James Elmer Galbraith, a farmer of the same place.

On March 15, 1905, he married, second, at Melbourn, Euzebia (Burrill) Wing and returned to his own farm, where he remained for a short time, but finding the management of so large a farm too strenuous for his advanced years, he sold it, and in December, 1905, located at Melbourn and purchased a small farm of six acres, where they now reside.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XLVI.

James Monroe Hand, eighth generation (No. 709, page 108), second son and third child of James Hand and Harriet Jewett, was born at Potten, Que., February 27, 1850.

On February 27, 1872, he married at Magog, Que., Sophia Delight Leroy, daughter of Lewis Leroy, of Potten, Que.

They have six children: Darabell, Charles Clayton, Myrtle Ladornia, Walter Monroe, Herbert Archie and Grace Genevieve.

His occupation is that of a boat builder. He is Fish and Game Warden for Stanstead County, Que., also for Lake Memphremagog; is also Government Fish Culturist, gathering spawn for the hatcheries, to restock the surrounding lakes and rivers.

When Ayers Cliff was organized, he was appointed one of its first constables. He is a noted sportsman, very successful with gun and rod.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XLVII.

Charles Sullivan Adams, LL. B. (No. 506, page 78), son of John Sullivan Adams and Ann Pitkin, was born in Burlington, Vt., June 27, 1860; fitted for college at Williston Seminary, Easthampton, Mass. Graduated from Amherst College in the Class of 1883. He was admitted to the bar at Jacksonville, Fla., in 1886.

He was Commissioner in the United States District Court from 1891 to 1894; Standing Master in Chancery of United States Circuit Court, Southern District of Florida, since 1898; Referee in Bankruptcy since 1909; also Secretary and Editor of report of Jacksonville Auxiliary Sanitary Association, relative to yellow fever in 1888; member of the law firm of Young & Adams, Jacksonville.

On September 25, 1889, he married, first, Claudia C. L'Engle, daughter of John C. L'Engle. She died February 11, 1895.

He married, second, February 17, 1898, Ella MacDonnell, daughter of Col. T. A. MacDonnell, of Jacksonville. They have two children, Emily Marion Adams and Charles Sullivan Adams, Jr.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XLVIII.

Reverend Wiley Taul Poynter, D. D., son of Thomas Poynter of Angeline, was born in Montgomery County, Ky., August 14, 1838.

He was educated at Frankfort, Ky., and at the early age of nineteen had made for himself such a reputation for thoroughness in instruction and discipline, which few men acquire, only after years of patient and laborious toil, that he was appointed Principal of the Winchester Academy.

He married, first, in 1857, Pattee Poston, and soon after became an officer in the Henry G. Poston Banking House, which position he resigned at the breaking out of the Civil War to become an officer in the Quartermaster General's Department of the United States Army, which office he held until peace was established in 1865.

Returning to private life he became cashier of the National Bank of Winchester, Ky.

During all these years, however, having been trained by religious Methodist parents, he had a persistent feeling that his life's work should be that of preaching the Gospel; so, at this time, he decided that as soon as he could relinquish himself from his numerous business enterprises, he would enter this new field. He fitted himself for the ministry and in 1867 was admitted to the Conference of Kentucky.

So highly had he commended himself by his sterling qualities of honesty, justice, energy and fidelity, that, owing to the importunities of the people of his own town, the Bishop yielded and appointed the young minister's first charge at Winchester.

Other charges followed, among which were Millersburg, Paris and Carrollton, where he preached with power, obtaining great results covering a period of thirteen years.

At the earnest solicitation of friends, he took upon himself the responsibilities of President of the Science Hill Female College.

His wife, Pattie, having died several years previous, leaving a daughter, Anna, and two sons, Henry Poston and Taylor Fletcher. He married, second, Kate Winn, who died soon afterwards.

After several years, he married, third, at Paris, Ky., Clara Davis Martin (No. 843, page 124), daughter of Hezekiah Davis Martin and Juliet Elmina (Jameson) Woods.

She was born in Bourbon County, near Paris, Ky., on a farm, which was a part of the original grant to an ancestor, who was one of the first settlers of that county.

A party for settlement was organized by a Captain Martin from Pennsylvania, whose services in the Revolutionary War were thus rewarded. Whether this Captain Martin was David Martin, grandfather of Clara Davis Martin, has yet to be determined.

Dr. Poynter, by this marriage, had one son and two daughters, Horace Martin, Juliet Jameson and Harriet Rockwell, all living.

During the seventeen years at Science Hill College, he was a most indefatigable worker; teaching during the daytime, his evenings were occupied in writing sermons, addresses on education, keeping his books, besides writing articles for the press; for he took an active part in the theological controversies and discussions of the times.

When the College needed funds, he found time to solicit and obtain the same.

Every Sabbath he preached two, and sometimes three sermons, besides frequently teaching a Bible Class.

In the Spring of 1896 he showed signs of a serious breakdown. His friends urged him to take a rest, but he felt he must finish the College year, and his address to the graduating class that year was of unusual earnestness; indeed, the marked attention paid, and the silent tears of the audience, indicated that they feared these were to be his farewell words to the College and community.

On July 30, 1896, his life's work was finished, and he entered into his well-earned rest at the age of fifty-eight years; mourned by a devoted family, a father who outlived him, a large circle of friends, theologians, educators, and the business world.

Those who knew him best loved and honored him; his theological creed was short and simple; faith in God and a life controlled by the precepts of His Son.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH XLIX.

Colonel Jacob Blanchard was born at Peacham, Vt., October 7, 1789. He married, first, January 5, 1824, Miss Thomas Jefferson Cameron, daughter of John Cameron and Elizabeth Stark; the latter was daughter of John and Molly Stark.

John Cameron was a great admirer of the statesman, Thomas Jefferson, and declared that his next child should be named for him. His next child proved to be a girl, but John Cameron was of Scotch descent, and kept his word; the daughter was named Thomas Jefferson, and called Jeffie by her friends.

They had eight children: Mary, John, John Cameron, Enoch, Elizabeth, Nathaniel, Jane Gray and Flora Merrill.

She died February 8, 1843.

He married, second, Myra Jerusha Cowles (No. 895), daughter of Timothy Cowles and Susan Fairchild. They had two children: Lewis Harvey and Edmund Cowles.

He was appointed Colonel of the Militia in the old training days; a man of strong character and decided opinions.

(See Genealogical No. 895, page 133).

He died May 7, 1870, having lived all his life on the old Blanchard farm at Peacham, Vt. His widow survived him until November 26, 1898, when she received her call.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH L.

Edmund Cowles Blanchard, eighth generation (No. 906), son of Col. Jacob Blanchard and Myra Jerusha Cowles, was born October 12, 1849, on the Blanchard farm at Peacham, Vt., which his grandfather, Abial Blanchard, carved out of the wilderness; being one of the first settlers of the town.

He married at Peacham, January 16, 1878, Ada Angenette Atwell, daughter of John Atwell and Elizabeth Root, of Peacham.

They had two sons and four daughters, Bernice Elizabeth, Susan Alice, Carl Atwell, Anna Laura, Louise Melissa and Carroll Francis.

In 1889, on account of his health, he sold his farm and settled in the Village of Peacham. About this time he was appointed Town Clerk and Postmaster; later he became Town Treasurer; was also in the insurance business. He held the offices of Town Clerk and Town Treasurer up to the time of his death.

In 1885 he joined the Congregational Church, of which he was a most consistent member, and for some time previous to his death, which occurred March 8, 1900, he was Superintendent of the Sabbath School.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH LI.

Jane Elizabeth Cowles, genealogist and historian, eighth generation (No. 914), third child and only daughter of George Cowles and Mary Bradley, was born at Ryegate, Vt., May 3, 1841.

(See page 135).

She is a descendant of Lieut. Samuel Martin on two lines: through Joseph Martin (No. 44, page 16), first son of William (Seaborn) Martin, and through Caleb Martin (No. 46, page 16), third son of William (Seaborn) Martin.

The public are familiar with many of her historical and genealogical works.

She is assistant secretary of the Cowles Family Association, and has been engaged for several years in bringing the records of that family down to date. She is now on the eighth volume, and the work seems to be apparently only well under way.

Besides writing a history of Peacham, Vt., that community is indebted to her for being instrumental in placing "Markers" on the graves of those veterans of the Revolutionary War, who died and were buried at Peacham, and in the laborious task of collecting and preserving the war records of these noble patriots. She resides at Plymouth, Mass.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH LII.

Charles Chauncey Chase was born at Haverhill, Mass., January 19, 1818.

He entered Dartmouth College in 1835 and graduated in 1839 with a class of sixty-one members, among whom were a number of men, afterwards distinguished; including Judge Isaac Ames, of Suffolk Probate Court, and Hon. Lyman Mason, of Boston, Mass.

After graduating, he taught in the Peacham Academy, at Peacham, Vt.

While there he married, November 30, 1841, Martha Smith Cowles (No. 902), daughter of Timothy Cowles and Susan Fairchild. They had three sons and one daughter: Charles Abner, Francis Nelson, Susan Harriet and Frederick Arthur.

He removed to Lowell, Mass., where he became Principal of the High School, which position he held for thirty-eight years, and hundreds of the city's ablest and most honored men received their education under his tuition.

After his retirement from the Principalship, he devoted much of his time in writing. His contributions to the History of Middlesex County being among the most important.

For two years he was President of the Massachusetts Teachers' Association, and President of Old Residents' Historical Association.

He was one of the first members and for many years a deacon of the High Street Church.

He died at Lowell, Mass., May 15, 1900, at the age of eighty-two years.

(See Genealogical No. 902, page 135).

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH LIII.

Francis Nelson Chase, eighth generation (No. 916), second child of Prof. Charles Chauncy Chase, and Martha Smith Cowles, was born at Lowell, Mass., July 28, 1849.

He married, first, September 15, 1875, Martha Fidelia Bailey, by whom he had one son, Charles Francis, who died in infancy. She died in 1878.

He married, second, June 20, 1883, Anna Estelle Sweatt, by whom he had two children: Charles Francis and Edmund Frederick. She died January 24, 1890.

He married, third, June 17, 1891, Emma Isabelle Wood, who died August 20, 1895.

His early education was obtained from the Lowell public schools, graduating from High School with Class of 1866.

For a short time he was in the employ of the Kitson Machine Co., of Lowell; later he became connected with the Merchants' National Bank.

In 1869, at the age of twenty, he engaged with the Old Lowell National Bank as clerk, gradually rising from that position until he was made Cashier and Director, which positions he held until his early and sudden death, which occurred November 25, 1909.

He was an active and honored citizen in the city, where he was born, and where he spent his life.

His opinions were always respected, and great responsibilities were placed upon him.

The public activities of Lowell received his hearty and substantial support. He was secretary of the Lowell Art Association; one of the directors of the Young Men's Christian Association, and at one time was President of the Local Christian Endeavor Union.

Since his connection with the Sons of the American Revolution in 1899, he devoted much time to historical and genealogical research; compiling a history of his own family and its branches.

He was very much revered in the High Street Church, with which he had been connected all his life; having served that organization in nearly all its offices of responsibility, as Teacher and Superintendent of the Sabbath School, Treasurer of Church, Clerk of the Board and Deacon for the last ten years of his life.

Second only to his love of family was his love for his Church, and, if in town and in health, he was always present at its services, whether of a religious or social nature.

Three children, by his first wife, survive him: Samuel Wood, Nelson Chauncy and Susan Emma.

(See Genealogical No. 916, page 136).

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH LIV.

Frederick Arthur Chase, eighth generation (No. 918), fourth child of Prof. Charles Chauncy Chase and Martha Smith, was born at Lowell, Mass., April 4, 1858.

He married at Lowell, June 26, 1899, Helen Louise Conant. Their children are Richard and Alice Louise.

His elementary education was received at Lowell and he graduated from Dartmouth with the degree of A. M. in 1892.

He was connected with the Central Savings Bank until 1879; with the Old Lowell National Bank until 1889, and with White Bros. & Co. until 1891.

In politics he is an enthusiastic Republican; is a member of the Massachusetts Library Club; of the American Library Association, and a Director of the Lowell Art Association. He has been Librarian of the Lowell City Library since 1891.

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH LV.

Joseph Foxcroft Cole was born November 9, 1837. When seven years of age his parents removed to Boston, Mass., where he completed his education.

After leaving school, he entered Bufford's lithographic establishment, where Winslow Homer was a fellow draughtsman, and where Eastman Johnston had been before him.

At the age of twenty-two he decided to become a painter and started for Paris; here he was a pupil of Lambenet and of Jacques.

He married, June 1, 1865, Irma de Pelgrom, a native of Nivelle, Belgium, a musician of rare ability.

Mr. Cole exhibited in Paris, at the Salon of 1866 and 1867; also at the International Exhibition of 1867.

After 1870 he occupied a studio in the Studio Building, Boston, Mass., where were also Hunt, Bicknell, La Farge, Vidder, Thomas Robinson, James Ames, Furness, Frank Hill Smith, Thomas Johnston, Appleton Brown and many others.

He exhibited in Salons of 1873, 1874 and 1875, and was a frequent exhibitor at the Royal Academy, London, and other English cities.

His knowledge and judgment were highly respected, and a number of the masterpieces of the French School, which came to private galleries in Boston and elsewhere, were purchased on Mr. Cole's recommendation.

He died at Boston, Mass., May 2, 1892.

(See Genealogical No. 918, page 137).

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH LVI.

FREDERICK ROY MARTIN, eighth generation, third son and fifth child of John Douglas Martin and Caroline Taylor Thompson, was born at North Stratford, N. H., November 17, 1871.

He married at Cambridge, Mass., September 9, 1909, Anna Francis Wayne, daughter of Francis Wayne, of New York City. They have one daughter, Nancy.

(See Genealogical No. 1123 page 171).

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH LVII.

GEORGE FORREST MARTIN, M. D., eighth generation (No. 1120), eldest son and second child of John Douglas Martin and Caroline Taylor Thompson, was born at Mason, Warren Co., Ohio, December 10, 1862.

When seven years of age, his parents with their family moved to North Stratford, N. H., and in 1871 they removed to Lowell, Mass.

He graduated from the Varnam Grammar School in 1876, and from the Lowell High School in 1879. He then entered Bryant & Stratton's Commercial College in Boston; after completing this course he engaged in the dry goods business in Lowell.

Having a strong inclination for the practice of medicine, he disposed of his share in this business to his partner in 1886, and entered the office of Horatio M. Hunter, M. D., as a medical student.

After six months of preliminary study there, he entered the New York Homœopathic Medical College and Hospital in New York City, from which he graduated in 1890 at the head of a class of thirty-nine students, carrying off the Faculty Microscopic prize for the highest scholarship for the entire course.

Having an ambition for surgical work, he went to Lowell in the winter of 1893 and 1894, making that his home; where he has since built up a large practice.

He took post-graduate work in surgery in Boston hospitals for three years.

Dr. Martin has held the appointment of Surgeon to the Lowell General Hospital since 1895; has been President of the Massachusetts Surgical and Gynecological Society, and Vice-president of the Massachusetts Homœopathic Medical Society.

In 1911 he was elected President of the Alumni Association of his Medical College in New York City.

He is an ex-President of the staff of the Lowell General Hospital, and has been Chairman of the Lowell Board of Health.

In all these societies and positions, he has been a hard worker.

He became a Free Mason in 1885, and is now a 32d Degree Mason.

On May 21, 1890, he married Gertrude Darling Hunter, daughter of Horatio M. Hunter and Susan M. Chase. They have had two children: Marion and Donald Hunter.

He is a member of, and an interested worker in the Grace Universalist Church of Lowell.

(See Genealogical No. 1120, page 170).

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH LVIII.

Governor Julius Converse, son of Joseph Converse and Mary Johnson, was born at Stratford, Conn., December 17, 1798.

His family, which was of French origin, emigrated from England in 1630 with Winthrop's colony.

His grandfather and great-grandfather made records for themselves in the Indian wars of Massachusetts.

His father and family removed to Randolph, Vt., in 1801, where he entered land and cleared a farm.

Young Converse was educated at the Randolph Academy, alternating the study of law with working on his father's farm; was admitted to the Orange County Bar in 1826.

He practiced his profession a few years in Bethel, Vt., and in 1840 removed to Woodstock, Vt.

His legal ability was recognized throughout the State, particularly as a cross-examiner; excelling in chancery practice.

While residing at Bethel, Vt., he represented his town several times in the State Legislature; was State Senator for Windsor County from 1836 to 1839; was elected several times to the Legislature from Woodstock County, Vt., and was elected Lieutenant Governor with Gov. C. K. Williams in 1850-1851.

While traveling outside the State in 1872, he was brought forward by his friends for Governor without his knowledge, and was elected by a majority of 25,000 votes over his opponent, ex-Lieut. Gov. A. B. Gardner.

As Chief Executive of the State he performed all his duties conscientiously, and was respected by his supporters.

After the close of his term he was seen no more in public life.

He married first, in 1827, Melissa Arnold, daughter of Henry Arnold of Randolph. She died December 14, 1872. They had no children.

He married second June 12, 1873, Jane E. Martin, daughter of Joseph Austin Martin and Elvira Lyman, by whom he had one daughter, Lena Belle.

He died at Dixville Notch, N. H., August 16, 1885.

(See Genealogical No. 1113, page 173).

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH LIX.

Henry Hale Harris, 1st, son of James Harris and Charlotte Donner, of Ontario, Wayne County, N. Y., was born at Lowell, Mass., May 3, 1835, but was reared in Vermont and Western New York.

After attaining his majority, he returned to Lowell, where he married, February 26, 1860, Parthenia Beech Martin, daughter of Joseph Austin Martin and Elvira Lyman.

When the Civil War broke out he enlisted in Company G, 6th Regiment, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia.

He died at Lowell, Mass., February 27, 1868, from disease contracted in the service of his country.

His four brothers also took up arms on the Union side in this great conflict.

A widow and two sons survive him: Charles Francis Harris and Henry Hale Harris, 2d.

(See Genealogical No. 1110, page 171).

BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH LX.

Henry Hale Harris, 2d, eighth generation, third son of Henry Hale Harris, 1st, and Parthenia Beech Martin, was born at Lowell, Mass., March 10, 1868.

He was educated in the public schools of Lowell, receiving a "Carney" medal at the close of his high school course, one of six, granted yearly, for excellence in the quality of work done throughout their courses by the recipients.

He was granted two scholarships, and at the end of his second year a "Detur" and completed in three years the requirements for the degree of A. B. at Harvard, with honorable mention in Natural History, which degree was given in 1891.

Returning one year to the Harvard Graduate School, he earned the degree of A. M. in 1892.

He was elected to the Lowell High School as a teacher in 1893, and in January, 1895, was elected Master of the Varnam Grammar School, and a Supervisor of the Lowell Schools, which positions he still occupies.

On April 7, 1903, he married Edith Ethelyn Potter, daughter of Daniel A. Potter and Emogene Stratton, of Boston, Mass. They have one son, Shirley Harris.

He has traveled much abroad, and has interested himself considerably in church, social and educational problems.

He is a trustee of the Massachusetts Teachers' Annuity Guild, a director of the Massachusetts Teachers' Federation; a trustee of the Lowell Public Library, and a Supervisor of Cornell schools.

Besides being a Knight Templar, he is a 32d Degree Scottish Rite Mason, and an active member of several other bodies.

(See Genealogical No. 1131, page 172).
